the earth. A fine-tuning adjustment is made on the three-meter (nine feet in diameter) dish by Jim Townsley, an employee at Bert's Audio-TV Showroom, 1920 Delmar Ave., during a trial set-up Tuesday. The satellite dish will be in operation all three days of the Home Show.

The Wilson Park Ice Pavilion will be the place tomorrow night through Sunday evening for viewing the latest ideas and items to make the home more enjoyable, beautiful and economical. Among the offerings of "Home Show 1982," which opens at 6 p.m. Friday are a giant dish which picks up television programs directly from the satellites, the latest in home computer and word processing technology, new energy-saving ideas for the home, modern appliances, health tips and demonstrations and displays on improving the quality of life, for less money.

Special visitors will include Fredbird the Redbird, Professional Wrestling Star Kerry Von Erich with Ring Announcer Larry Matysik, and WLL radio disc jockey Charlie O'Neil. A total of 90 booths has been set up in the Wilson Park rink for the free event. In addition to free admission and free parking, attendance prizes will be awarded to some of the luckier visitors.

A supplement on the home show appears inside today's Press-Record. It includes a diagram of booth assignments, a complete schedule of events, and advertisements promoting the various items to be shown at the show. Home Show 1982 will be open Friday from 6 to 10 p.m.; Saturday from 1 to 10 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. The Granite City Police Department will display its new video equipment and will accept applications for auxiliary policemen. It will be the only time this year that the applications will be accepted for auxiliary training which is virtually the same training as regular policemen receive.

Home Show 1982 is sponsored by Granite City Trust and Savings Bank. Trust Bank Assistant Vice-President Mel Embrich is chairman. Embrich noted that prizes will be given away each day of the show to persons signing up at the bank's booths, numbers 32 and 33. No purchase is necessary. The Trust Bank also will be giving free tote bags to visitors, while supplies last. The Press-Record will be giving away telephone stickers with life-saving emergency numbers for police, fire and ambulance service for all Quad-City area communities. There also will be daily drawings at the Press-Record booth for prizes. A wristwatch will be given away Friday evening and Cardinal baseball tickets will be given away by the newspaper Saturday and Sunday. Also, modern computer terminals for typesetting will be on display and demonstrated Saturday and Sunday by Press-Record reporters, who will be available to answer questions about the newspaper and career opportunities in the journalism field.

The Granite City Park District will be issuing resident identification cards at the Home Show each day.

ID cards are issued only to residents of the park district and enable the holder to enjoy park services at lower resident prices. Persons wishing to

No pay for golfing legislators

The two local legislators who played golf Monday in a long-scheduled tournament at Springfield said this week they will not claim or accept $36 per diem expense pay from taxpayers for that day.

State Representatives Jim McPike and Sam Wolf cited a misunderstanding for their absence at the General Assembly. Speaker George Ryan had scheduled a day of inaction and then changed his mind during the weekend. State Rep. Everett G. Steele also will not be paid any expenses because he was not in Springfield on Monday. He said Ryan had told him there would be little or no legislative activity that day. All three were listed as "present" on the first attendance roll call Monday and were absent at a verified quorum call later in the day.

Steele said he had made out-of-town appointments several months ago because he did not expect a session to be held Monday.

Noting that he did not know who pushed his attendance button Monday morning, the Glen Carbon Republican said he already had removed his name from the roll call.

McPike, who scored an 81 in 18 holes of golf, said the tournament was organized several weeks ago by Rep. Monroe Flinn, Cahokia Democrat, and Rep. Richard Matting, Springfield Democrat.

An Alton Democrat, McPike said he personally answered the first roll call when the House went into session. He then left for The Rail Golf Club because, he said, Ryan had told Flinn the House would not actually conduct any business until at least 4 p.m. to accommodate the golf outing.

McPike accused the speaker of "breaking his word" by then calling controversial amendments on several bills.

Advance calendars issued for the House by Ryan in mid-March listed Monday as an "open day" with no scheduled session.

Wolf, a Granite City Democrat, said he will not take per diem pay because he played golf. He teed off at the golf course at 9:40 a.m., and is now "teed off" at a "helpful" fellow legislator who listed him as present at the Capitol at 10 a.m.

Rep. Wolf was not in the House chamber and says he has no idea who pushed his button.

The Granite City man was told that deliberations would not begin before 4 p.m., and points out that he was present at the Capitol at 3:30, "ready to go into session." By then, the House had adjourned until Tuesday.

Speaker Ryan denied Tuesday that it was his failure to honor an agreement which made fellow legislators appear to have abandoned their duty in favor of golf.

He admits they were embarrassed by the timing, but contends it was not his fault.

Twelve Republicans and ten Democrats from the House and Senate participated in the tournament while the House was "out of business" due to

Nameoki votes to drop G ambulance service

Nameoki Township has become the first of the municipalities served by Granite City ambulance operations to say it plans to discontinue the service as the result of newly-imposed rate increases.

The township now has 30 days to find another way to provide ambulance service to its residents, or go without ambulances.

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs still left his options open, however, when he said that Granite City ambulance service still is being considered among the possibilities. "Maybe they (Granite City officials) want to talk a little better business," said Briggs, in view of the recent developments in his township.

Madison and Venice already have publicly expressed their dislike for the new contract. Madison has begun its own ambulance service and Venice officials said they are exploring the combined use of Madison's and private ambulance services.

Granite City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic has based the city's 1982-83 budget on the assumption that ambulance fee revenues would increase to $275,000 this fiscal year.

Briggs said the Nameoki Town Board of Trustees rejected the new contract between Nameoki and Granite City in a 4-0 vote Monday.

The new rates, which Briggs termed "outrageous," were the deciding factor, according to the supervisor. The township would have been charged a $230 monthly retainer fee plus $125 per call and $5 a mile traveled.

Casting votes against the updated contract were Briggs and Trustees Helen Hawkins, Joseph Garcia and Lee Adams. Trustee Don Wilson was absent.

According to the supervisor, the decision was made after a lengthy discussion, occupying most of the afternoon Monday meeting.

Weighted, along with the new increases, was the possibility of rates further escalating in the future. Nameoki Township has the federal revenue-sharing funds now to pay for the ambulance service, but Briggs said the board did not know how it would be able to continue the service if the federal funds were discontinued in the future.

Tuesday, Briggs said he was preparing a letter to formally notify Granite City of the township's vote to sever the ambulance services. Under severe the ambulance services, either party may terminate the contract upon 30 days notice.

Briggs said that, according to the township attorney, no state law compels the township to provide ambulance service to its residents.

After the contract expires, Briggs said, the board is uncertain what direction it will take, but is actively "working on some ideas" to offer Nameoki Township residents an ambulance service.

Briggs did say that township general assistance "arrangements could be made" for those unable to afford whatever alternative ambulance service the township might select.

Optimists check bike safety Saturday

By VALERIE EVENDEN

at the Press-Record
Granite City Optimists will sponsor a "Bicycle Inspection" program Saturday, lasting from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. It was announced today by Bill Sternberg, Optimist youth activities chairman.

Inspection stations for bicycles will be set up during the above hours on the playgrounds at Frohardt and Niedringhaus elementary schools. Brakes, wheels, handlebars, tires and chains will be among the equipment checked on the machines.

Primarily geared to children and teens, the GC Optimist safety project is being held at this time to encourage bike safety prior to schools being dismissed for summer vacation, Sternberg explained.

Youngsters whose machines pass inspection will receive reflectors and identification cards to be secured on their bicycles, the chairman said.

"Rule of the Road" booklets for bicyclists and inspection sheets, listing critical check points, also will be available to the participants.

May is American Bike Month when safe bicycling is promoted throughout the nation. There are in excess of 105 million persons, nearly half of the population, two-wheeling today, making the need for bicycle safety more important than ever, according to Chief Ronald J. Veizer of the Granite City Police Department.

For more than a quarter of a century, communities in many states have held special events in May, geared to making their areas safer places for bicyclists, he noted.

Because more and more youngsters and adults are riding their two-wheelers for fun, physical fitness, energy conservation and short-haul transportation, Chief Veizer emphasized the need is urgent for bicycle safety education in the schools, community centers and in cooperation with local law enforcement agencies.

"Greater awareness will help prevent accidents," he stressed. Recent studies reveal that a common cause of many traffic accidents involving bicyclists was the "blind eye of the motorists," the police chief said. Scanning patterns of the motorist are beamed at other automobiles, frequently overlooking the presence of the bicyclist on the road.

The chief cautioned motorists to remain alert for bike riders and respect their right to the road.

Some motorists also perform erratic and illegal maneuvers in unexpected places — such as exiting from driveways and sidewalks onto public roads without looking — thus creating hazardous situations.

Failure to stop or yield at controlled intersections and wrong-way riding also contributed to bicyclists' accidents.

In addition to Illinois, Maryland, New York and Wisconsin, several other states are adopting formal bicycle safety education programs, according to the American Bike Month Committee.

Despite this trend, there still is a considerable vacuum in the area of

Prize money vanishes

A festive night was shaping up for members of the Bowlettes bowling league as they gathered Tuesday evening for their annual season-ending award dinner. Trophies and cash earned by the ladies were placed on a display table to await their arrival.

But joy turned to sorrow with the disappearance of six manila envelopes containing the teams' winnings of $1,141 and a white envelope holding $108 in sweepstakes awards.

The fund to which the bowlers had contributed averaged about $40 for each league member, varying slightly based on their 1981-82 bowling success. The dinner was set to begin at 6 p.m. at Ravanelli's restaurant, 3 American Village Shopping Center, and arrangements for the display began at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The table containing the awards was at the eastern end of an open banquet hall area near public restrooms and a carryout food counter.

By the time many of the bowlers were arriving for the event, most of the envelopes were missing and an empty, torn envelope was found in a trophy box. At 5:45 p.m., only the trophies remained on the table.

Trash containers were searched without success.

A breakthrough in the police investigation occurred Wednesday when a member of the bowling league admitted taking the money.

Charges are to be filed against a 28-year-old Granite City woman.

A SURPRISE! Four-year-old Elizabeth Chancellor, daughter of Mrs. Wanda Chancellor, receives a bag of goodies and a diploma during the Granite City Headstart graduation Wednesday morning. Presenting her with the items is Miss Joann Niemeyer, an instructor in the program. Sixty-four children in four classes participated in the graduation, held at the Harold E. Brown Recreation Center. Several songs and mini-plays presented by the children preceded the handing out of diplomas.

Career leadership course

Belleville Area College is introducing a course that will seek to teach the attitudes and leadership abilities necessary to succeed in business.

Career Attitudes, Leadership and Motivation is an adaptation of the "I Can" course developed by Zig Ziglar, author of "See You At The Top."

This book and the course are based on the belief that an individual "can get what he wants in life if he helps enough people get what they want."

Terry D. Blaes, Belleville East High School instructor who will teach the BAC course, said it fills a gap in business education.

"Most business courses are geared to practical applications, but 90 percent of success in business deals with attitude," Blaes said. "This course is for anyone who wants to develop a positive mental attitude." Although BAC is offering it as a business course, persons in other fields can benefit from it as well, Blaes said. The three-hour college credit course will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays for eight weeks beginning June 8.

Registration for it and other BAC summer courses is under way from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Fridays now through Wednesday, June 2, at the BAC main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

Blaes, who teaches high school psychology and civics classes, has been at Belleville East for 16 years and taught at Belleville West for three years before that. He has a bachelor degree in sociology from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and a master degree in counseling and psychology from SIUE at Edwardsville. He has taught BAC psychology courses, including child and adolescent development, for several years.

In addition to teaching at the high school and college, Blaes conducts the "I Can" courses on a private basis. He was introduced to the program at a teachers' institute last fall at Belleville West, where he met Ziglar. After looking into the program further, he began teaching the course through PMA-Time Associates, a non-profit organization he established.

Many of these classes are for children ages 12 to 16, he said. It is a program for all ages, he added. Blaes, 33-1737, said the BAC course also will be offered during the fall semester.

EXCELLENT WORK performance in the building service contracting industry is noted in the certificate received by Emil "Joe" Kondrk, right, an employee of AAA Maintenance Janitorial Service, Inc. of Granite City, from the Building Service Contractors Association International. Presenting the award at a dinner honoring Kondrk is James Rush, A.A.A. Maintenance president. Responsibility, honesty, integrity, loyalty and service to family and community were other qualities recognized in Kondrk's selection.

Open house will honor a 90-year local resident

A 90-year resident of the local area will be honored on Sunday. An open house will be given for Mrs. Ivy Steele to celebrate her 90th birthday on Sunday, May 16. She will receive her friends and relatives from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Atrium, in the Eden Village Retirement Center, Cottonwood Road, Glen Carbon.

The open house will be hosted by her two children, State Representative Everett G. Steele of Glen Carbon and Mrs. Carol Holbert of Collinsville.

Ivy Steele was born in the Village of Nameoki (now part of Granite City) on May 15, 1892, and lived in Granite City until 1979, when she moved to Glen Carbon.

Her late husband, W. John Steele, was in the insurance and real estate business in Granite City for many years.

Her father, Chris Rummennann, served as the first mayor of Nameoki and was recorder of deeds of Madison County for 12 years.

Mrs. Steele has three grandchildren, Bryan and Randall Steele and Ken Holbert Jr. Her eldest son, John Howard, is deceased.

The family has requested that friends and relatives at the reception omit gifts.

3-year probation in Pontoon burglary

Donald Kuehnle Jr., 19, Hartford, has been sentenced to three years of probation and ordered to make $200 restitution. Circuit Judge Philip Rarik presided over the case, which was based on a burglary occurring Dec. 20, 1981, in Pontoon Beach. Kuehnle and a juvenile were arrested at a home on Highway 111 three days after the burglary. They were taken to the 400 block of East Lake Drive where they were burglarized.

Stolen gun hidden, found

Police answered three disturbance calls to the vicinity of West 2nd Street and Bryan Avenue at 9:50, 10:15 and 10:30 p.m. Monday and eventually seized a .38-caliber blue steel handgun with a four-inch barrel.

An East St. Louisan suspected of having knowledge of the stolen weapon had left the area before it was found in the back yard at 2400 W. 22nd St. It contained two live rounds of ammunition.

Initial efforts to locate the gun were unsuccessful and the versions of witnesses varied slightly, resulting in the preliminary decision not to file charges.

Authorities now want to prosecute for unlawful use of a weapon, aggravated assault and, possibly, gun theft.

The gun had been pointed at Diane Moore, 2400 W. 22nd, in a menacing way Monday evening, police were told.

One of three persons in a blue 1972 auto was said to have been trying to collect a $15 debt.

TWO RINGS STOLEN

A set of wedding and engagement rings valued at $320 was taken in a burglary at the apartment of Catherine Vrzmer, 1835 Edison Ave., prior to 10:50 a.m. Sunday. A window was broken to gain access to the dwelling.

News notes

In observing National Hospital Week May 9-15, the 51 hospitals in this metropolitan area are stressing "You've got a friend." They say, "The 40,000 members of the hospital-employee family are performing services typical of a friend's special kind of caring. They are reaching out to their patients and the community they serve with many acts of friendship."

A bill approved Wednesday night by the U.S. House Public Works Committee would make the Martin Luther King Bridge eligible for federal repair funds.

The U.S. House Energy and Commerce Committee approved this week to extend through 1984-85 a program in which the federal government buys shares to provide part of the capital for railroad improvement projects, including the Metro Enterprise here.

Illinois Senate Appropriations panel members asked Wednesday that about 40,000 unionized state government employees give up three-fourths of the pay raise due them July 1 and also take five fewer paid days off a year. Instead of an 8 percent hike in July, they would get a 4 percent pay boost next Jan. 1.

The U.S. House Public Works Committee on Wednesday approved an amendment to force Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas to raise their interstate truck weight limits to 80,000 pounds or less federal highway money. Cong. John Breaux, D-La., said that these three barrier states are interrupting the interstate flow of commerce. His proposal was approved on a voice vote, with Cong. Robert A. Young, D-St. Louis, opposed.

The Illinois Senate Revenue Committee voted 8-1 Wednesday not to raise taxes on alcoholic beverages.

Despite an appeal from governor, lawyers failed Wednesday to prevent a delay in forwarding $144 checks to 8,000 on welfare. Legislators are displeased with Gov. James R. Thompson's hiring of 156 tax agents this year. The public aid agency ran out of money May 7 for general assistance and needs Assembly authorization to transfer from other sources until the end of the fiscal year June 30. In a letter to all legislators this week, Thompson said Illinois could lose $38 million over the next 14 months to tax evaders. He urged passage of the pending layoff of the 746-person auditing division unless the Revenue Department is funded.

STATE DUI CHARGE: Barry W. McGrew, 27, of 2405 Glen Place, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs when his vehicle was stopped by an Illinois state trooper at 1 a.m. Wednesday on Interstate 55-70 at Illinois 203.

FIND CAR AFTER YEAR: A 1980 two-door auto stolen a year ago, May 13, 1981, from Dennis Solberger, 2224 E. 25th St., was recovered at 1:50 p.m. Wednesday.

City budget talks reach final stage

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Granite City budget cutting and shaping reached its final stages Tuesday as finance committee members and department heads met for the end of three weeks of compromising budget sessions — mainly abiding by the limits set earlier by City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic, who projects $9.5 million in revenues and $8.9 in expenses this budget year.

Similarly, the city's aldermanic negotiating team and city employee representatives are drawing closer to settlements expected to retain the status quo — with no layoffs, pay increases or layoff reinstatements. The budget will be discussed during a public hearing at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 26, at the Granite City Township Hall, prior to that night's regular city council meeting. Under the reins of the new comptroller, the budget is expected to make a quiet, "no changes," statement, a frustrating budget year of employee layoffs, department consolidations, overstaffing allegations and charges of neglect.

The only remaining budget issue appears to be City Engineer Donald Miklovic's request for the reinstatement of his department's secretary and hiring of an additional inspector. To taxpayers, however, city budget negotiations are the quiet before the storm. Budget sacrifices now could be interrupted only as a temporary measure until this fall, when expenditures can be financed through a raised tax levy, which would be felt next year.

Comptroller Miklovic said that the next step facing the aldermen after approving the budget, will be setting a level this fall that can adequately support the 1983-84 budget.

The levy has "run into problems in the past" when it was set too low, according to the comptroller.

Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, a member of the finance committee, reportedly asked department heads during budget discussions to sacrifice some of the end of three weeks of capital purchases now — that has already been bypassed in earlier budget years — until a new levy is passed.

Last fall, a proposal by Alderman Warren Deaton to hike the levy to support the 1982-83 budget died for lack of a second to his motion.

Tentative department budget cuts which could crop up in next year's budget include: reduced sidewalk repair projects; delay of "problem" sewer lift stations serving highly populated sections of the city.

Delay of maintenance for engineering department vehicles the city engineer calls unsafe; vehicle maintenance cuts in several other departments; cuts in requested building maintenance from several departments, and denial of requests for additional staff members in the Humane and Street departments and engineering and air pollution divisions.

Residents may be looking not only at higher tax bills next year to pay for items cut this year, but more immediately, will be paying higher ambulance bills, can be expecting higher sewer bills and should be finding steeper collections of payments for various city services, including restitution for destruction of city property and payment of ambulance bills.

Residents, in return, will not experience drastic cuts in city services, but a combination of new taxes and higher rates for certain services and favorable union settlements, that are not expected to include pay raises.

According to Alderman Gannar Skubish, a member of the negotiating committee, about "90 percent" of the negotiations have been settled between the city and the five unions which have opened their contracts this year.

Besides the Wastewater Treatment Plant workers of Local 525, International Union of Operating Engineers, who have reached a tentative settlement, the city still is negotiating with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) — with two separate councils, representing clerical and secretarial employees and policemen — and Granite City Firefighters' Local 253, representing firefighters and ambulance employees.

Chauffeurs, Teamsters, Warehousemen and Helpers' Local 525, representing some employees in the street, sanitation and humane departments, did not open its contract this year.

Although negotiations are in the final stages, Skubish said, he does not believe that talks will be concluded before the public budget hearing May 26.

He does not, however, foresee negotiations changing the tentative budget. According to Skubish, employees realize the financial position of the city and are "concerned with it."

The negotiating committee had nothing to offer this year, and employees, as a result, are making "some sacrifice" this year, Skubish said.

Settlements made by the negotiating committee still have to be approved by the city council, but, Skubish said, "It looks like we will get the council support."

The alderman, who anticipates no further city employee layoffs now negotiations are finished, said he feels that the safety of both the workers and residents would be threatened if further cuts were made.

The possibility of further layoffs had been discussed on the council floor since last July. In return for their job security, city employees can probably expect council action on "stricter sick leave and vacation policies."

Contest for residents displaying U.S. flag

By VALERIE EVENEDEN of the Press-Record

All Quad-City area residents are being encouraged to display the United States flag on May 30 and May 31, and to join in a patriotic contest, planned as part of Memorial Day weekend activities.

For the fifth-year, a flag waving contest in which a local family can win a $100 U.S. Savings Bond, provided this year by Feder Huber Funeral Home, 501 Madison Ave., Delmar and Niedringhaus avenues, will be staged. The contest rules, however, have been changed somewhat this year to improve selection of a winner from among those persons agreeing to fly the Stars and Stripes at their residence.

Any area resident wishing to participate may enter the contest by registering at the Feder Huber store within the next two weeks.

Those signing up for the contest must register their name and address and signify their intention to display the flag on Memorial Day, May 31, according to Steve Konkovich, founder and coordinator of the flag waving event.

Now Zuckerman, Feder Huber general manager, said he is helping to coordinate the public spirited project.

A name will be selected from among those listing their address at 9:30 a.m. Monday, May 31, during a brief memorial ceremony, to be conducted alongside the F4U Jet fighter aircraft, located near the Wilson Park ice rink pavilion.

Persons registering for the contest do not have to attend the Memorial Day ceremony, but the Stars and Stripes must be flying when the selection is made.

Residence is visited immediately after the address is chosen, Konkovich explained.

Recruiters from the U.S. Army, U.S. Navy, U.S. Marine Corps and U.S. Air Force will participate in the ceremony.

Brief remarks will be offered by Chief Petty Officer Edward Sabo, U.S. Navy, to commemorate the occasion.

The flag waving contest, has captured the attention of national and state leaders and was commented upon in a letter to Konkovich by President Jimmy Carter, who stated, "The President (Reagan) appreciates and shares in your concern for the continuation of the patriotic spirit that helped make this nation great."

He believes that such dedication and enthusiasm will help to convince all Americans that honoring our flag and country is one of the finest duties of citizenship."

Illinois Governor James R. Thompson, stating his views in a letter to the Granite City man, said, "Your idea to have the contest was brilliant. Although it is unfortunate that we must resort to a contest to get our citizens to display the American flag, perhaps this contest will inspire others to do so in the future—contest or not."

At the instigation of Robert L. Ashworth, programs director for the National Amvets organization, a resolution is being prepared by Quad-City Amvets Post 51 to create a National American Flag Contest for presentation at the Illinois Amvets state convention, scheduled June 18 in Champaign. If approved at the state conference, the resolution should be forwarded to National Amvets headquarters for review.

by the National Americanism Committee, as a possible 1982-83 project, Ashworth said.

Konkovich also noted that "Old Glory" will be in full display along some major thoroughfares in Granite City this Memorial Day, unlike the past three years when the parade array of flags was missing from Madison Avenue and elsewhere.

The city recently purchased 80 new flags for display and was being added to 31 banners left from an original collection of 100 flags.

The flags were presented to the community with a $500 donation from the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council in 1971. Assistance in obtaining Mayor Paul Schuler, who was then an alderman, Granite City Fire Chief Don Parente, at that time a member of the fire department, and Amvets Post 51.

Many of the original flags were destroyed four years ago when a severe storm suddenly struck the area while they were being displayed. The remaining flags were stored in a city warehouse and could be purchased.

Two weeks ago, Konkovich retrieved the original flags and carefully unfurled them one by one. Then he stood on his flagpole in his garden fence and proceeded to clean and repair them, a project which drew the attention of many passing motorists. "I hope everyone will enter into the spirit of Memorial Day by flying our flag and creating a patriotic display, as well as entering the flag waving contest," Konkovich said this week.

MITCHELL FIREMEN FIGHT CAR BLAZE

The Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department was called to Old Alden and Schaefer roads at 1:20 a.m. today to extinguish an auto fire, which drew the attention of city police officers, county deputies and an Illinois State trooper also were at the scene.

The passenger vehicle, whose ownership is being investigated today, apparently exploded when the tank. Firemen remained at the scene until 2:30 a.m.

STATE DUI CHARGE

Barry W. McGrew, 27, of 2405 Glen Place, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs when his vehicle was stopped by an Illinois state trooper at 1 a.m. Wednesday on Interstate 55-70 at Illinois 203.

Chromalloy is targeting long-term goals; Stevens will be president

With the recession now wider and deeper, the Chromalloy American Corporation for the remainder of 1982 depends on how soon the business environment improves, Frank P. Nykiel, president and chief executive officer, told the annual meeting of shareholders Wednesday.

The firm is the parent company of the Precast Metals plant in Granite City. N. E. Alexander, chairman of the board, announced at the annual meeting that it is expected that William E. Stevens, who joined Chromalloy's management team recently as senior executive vice president and chief operating officer, will be recommended to become president of the multi-industry corporation on the retirement of Nykiel, who will be at the end of 1982.

Stevens, who is 39, was formerly corporate vice president of Eastman Kodak Company, Chicago, and president of Beatrice's consumer and commercial products division. The sale of businesses resulting from a divestiture program has raised the company's net worth of $200 million of proceeds since the program began. Speaking at the annual meeting, Nykiel said the program is two-thirds complete.

He added that "the company's 25 businesses which were classified as discontinued operations last December will be sold or liquidated, and the redeployment of our assets to areas offering the most potential."

"Proceeds from sale of those businesses will provide additional capital to meet the growth needs of our basic businesses and further reduce floating-rate debt."

He said the company's extensive barge line operations, which suffered from adverse operating conditions in the first quarter, are now faced with severely depressed rates for grain and other bulk shipments.

Alexander told shareholders that this is a time of refocusing and restructuring at Chromalloy.

"We have established major long-term goals for the company that will enable us to achieve growth in quality instead of just growth in size."

"We are focusing our resources on areas of our operations that have the most significant potential, and we are departing from those areas that do not."

"We are committed to the achievement of a leadership position in the businesses we operate and to attaining the higher profitability that results from leadership positions."

"Over the past year, we have concentrated our corporate resources of people, plant, time and money to develop and put to work a selective long-term strategy toward these ends."

Chromalloy produces and sells a broad range of products and services through operating companies in five industries: transportation, machinery, fabrication, petroleum services, apparel and financial services.

The corporation had net sales and operating revenues of $1.1 billion in 1981 and earnings from continuing operations of $43.7 million. The board of directors declared a dividend of $1.25 per share on the $5 1/2 cumulative convertible preferred stock and 23.5 cents per share on common stock, payable Aug. 2 to shareholders of record July 1.

Stoller begins his prison term tomorrow

Leland Stoller, 44, of Nashville, Tenn., is to begin serving his three-year federal prison term tomorrow after three years of delays and appeals.

Stoller was convicted along with former Madison County Sheriff John Maeras of federal racketeering and wire fraud charges, along with Maeras and Cooper.

Cooper began serving a 10-year prison term April 15. Maeras, 55, has been excused from serving his 15-year sentence because doctors testified that he is dying of cancer and could not receive proper treatment in prison.

Stoller, husband of popular country vocalist Crissy Lane, arranged dances, Easter bazaar promotions and other fund-raising activities on behalf of the former deputies' group and was charged with making kickbacks from the funds raised to Maeras and others.

Services held for Lewis Fossieck

The Rev. James Donahue, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, conducted funeral services at 10 a.m. Wednesday, May 12, at Davis Funeral Home, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, for Lewis E. Fossieck, 66, of Garden Grove, Calif., formerly of Granite City.

Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Mr. Fossieck died Sunday morning, May 8, 1982, at a hospital in Midland, Texas. Born in Granite City, he graduated from Granite City High School in 1936, and earned a degree from Washington University, St. Louis, and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, in psychology.

Mr. Fossieck served five years in the U.S. Air Force during World War II, and was employed at AVSCOM in St. Louis from 1945 to 1977, when he retired and returned to California to live.

Additional GC Council actions—at a glance

Other Granite City Council action and discussions from the council's last session, not reported in previous issues, include:

...Mayor Paul Schuler, saying there are "some inadequacies" in the city's new business licensing ordinance, responded to some aldermanic criticisms of the ordinance by asking the council to consider combining all changes in a single future amendment.

Recent objections have included different license fees within similar categories and like fees for large and small businesses within the same category.

...Jean Waligorski, leading residents from the 2100 block of Washington Ave. protesting the lack of parking space and access to their own driveway, said the problem was caused by traffic coming from St. Louis.

...Alderman Michael Modrusic asked if the city could take any action concerning remote control trains operated by Granite City Steel Division of National Steel. Modrusic contended that the trains, running without engineers, are traveling across city streets, city attorney said he will investigate the city's rights in the situation.

...The business of writing an updated city employee vacation ordinance was given to the city attorney and operated by Granite City Steel Division of National Steel. Modrusic contended that the trains, running without engineers, are traveling across city streets, city attorney said he will investigate the city's rights in the situation.

...Aldermen voting in favor of an agreement between the Wastewater Treatment Plant workers and the city, which would bar layoffs but allow reduction of the staff by attrition, were Sam Whitmer, Everett Morlen, Paul Walter Milton and Mayor Paul Schuler. These voters against the agreement were Aldermen Warren Deatour, Fred "Pat" Schuman, Michael Modrusic and Jake Varadian. Aldermen Margaret Nunn, Paul Bowler and Stephen Salich were absent. The mayor may vote in instances where half the aldermen — which is one short of the required majority of eight needed for council action — are in favor of an ordinance, it was indicated.

Aldermen voted to suspend council rules requiring advanced reading of ordinances and approved the erection of stop signs at Fortune and Sunset drives and Buenger Boulevard and Ivy Lane.

Public fiesta Saturday observes Cinco de Mayo

The traditional "Cinco de Mayo" fiesta, sponsored by the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City, will take place at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 15, in the Bingo Center, 17 Nameoki Village Shopping Center.

Authentic Mexican dances and songs, representing various states in Mexico, will be featured in an artistic presentation at 8 p.m. Saturday, under the direction of Maria Esperanza Valencia.

Master of ceremonies will be Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler.

This year's "Cinco de Mayo" fiesta commemorates the 120th anniversary of the "Battle of Puebla," fought in 1862, when the Mexican freedom fighters achieved victory in their lengthy struggle against oppression.

Music for dancing will be presented by "Los Amigos," starting at 9 p.m. Saturday. Specialty food, including Mexican dishes, along with other refreshments will be available, according to Rick Serrano, fiesta chairman. Tickets, costing $3.50 for adults and $2 for children under 12 years, may be obtained at the door.

costumes, Ruby Ybarra, public relations, Janet Leith, decorations, and Leith Donaldson, bar service. Kitchen and cleanup work will be under the supervision of the Mexican Honorary Commission softball team.

Unusual offerings at white elephant sale

A log splitter, antiques, bicycles, refrigerator, Coke memorabilia and art works will be on sale when the Friends of art hold their first white elephant sale Saturday at the Wagner Art Complex of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The sale, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., is being held in conjunction with the department of art and design. Department Chairman Don Davis said the sale also will include a wagon, a hand cultivator, toys, a garden shredder and many more items too numerous to mention.

The sale allows a person to sell an item and keep 75 percent of the profit. The other 25 percent goes to the Friends of Art.

The organization sponsors art workshops for children and helps the department of art and design by awarding endowments to faculty and students and bringing guest artists to the campus.

The Wagner Art Complex is off Buchanan Street at Wolf Street in Edwardsville. There will be signs pointing the way.

INMISSED AGGRAVATED BATTERY ALLEGATION Circuit Judge Philip Rarick has dismissed two counts of aggravated battery filed against Charles G. Builey, 62, of 1800 State St.

The incident was alleged to have occurred Aug. 15, 1981. The dismissal action this spring was based on a motion by the state's attorney.

Builey said he was near an auto driven by a relative of his when a man fell out of it and was injured in the 1400 block of 19th Street. The man, found lying on the easement between the curb and sidewalk, was hospitalized with right hand and right shoulder injuries after being transported in an ambulance.

'Lifeline' truly that for 15 persons here

While it is limited to those who meet specific criteria, and while it may never be needed by most people, a new community outreach service here is drawing considerable attention.

Lifeline, a non-profit service, is being offered by St. Elizabeth Medical Center in cooperation with the Disabled American Veterans.

Granite City Rotarians voted on Tuesday to assist. The service has started, and 15 persons are participating at present.

A spokesman commented, "Living alone can be difficult when you are older, ill or handicapped. You want to remain independent but need the security of knowing someone will respond if you need help."

"Lifeline is an emergency response system which provides 24-hour access to community medical and social services."

"At the touch of a button, you can summon help if you fall or become ill."

"A small, wireless push-button is worn in your pocket or on a belt. Pressing this button signals for help through the communicator, which is attached to your telephone."

"Automatically, the communicator dials SEMC. This system works even if the phone is off the hook, or in the event of a power basis."

"A timer is included on the Lifeline communicator. This timer automatically signals for help if you are unconscious or unable to press the emergency button."

"Trained personnel staff SEMC's Lifeline Response Center around the clock to receive all calls for help."

"We will call to find out what your problem is. If there is no answer, we will dispatch a responder immediately."

"A responder may be a neighbor, relative or city agency (such as the police) who volunteers to help you in an emergency."

"As soon as the responder arrives at your home, he or she will report to the Lifeline Response Center."

"The Center closely monitors the situation and immediately dispatches an ambulance if emergency medical treatment is needed."

"We will call you every month to ensure that your unit is working and that you are satisfied with it."

"The solid state digital system has been proven in more than 10 million hours of experience."

"The system has been studied by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and approved by the U.S. Veterans Administration."

"Lifeline is for disabled and/or older persons who live alone and want the security of knowing they are in touch with help when they need it."

"Lifeline units are available from St. Elizabeth Medical Center on a rental basis."

"The Lifeline coordinator's telephone number is 799-3019," the spokesman noted.

Bleak outlook for county law enforcement revenue

By JIM SCHLUTER

A 12 percent cut proposed for his department worries Sheriff Emil Toftant.

Even a six percent budget reduction would result in about 12 layoffs and would "drastically" curtail law enforcement services, Toftant said.

"It doesn't bother me too much to get rid of equipment," Toftant said. "But the main thing I don't want to see is a reduction in manpower."

Toftant said the county jail must be manned at the current level, and that any reductions will be made in other areas, especially patrol.

But these reductions may not be enough to help the county cut 1982 expenses by 12 percent, because the sheriff's cost saving estimates were based on the department's 1983 request of $3,245,435, instead of the $2,771,290 budgeted to the sheriff in 1982.

According to Toftant, a 12 percent reduction of his 1983 request would still be $80,000 over the 1982 budget.

The sheriff has told the Finance Committee that he is in the process of reducing his 73-car fleet by 16 vehicles, and that the department has started a system in which cars are used 24 hours a day.

When the County Board last month voted not to buy replacement cars with $88,000 budgeted for the purchase, Toftant ended the practice of allowing each deputy his own patrol car.

Now the cars in the reduced fleet will be used on patrol 24 hours a day, with deputies sharing the use of each car.

Toftant said the vehicles will be stationed in Godfrey, Pontoon Beach and Edwardsville to make them accessible to deputies around the county.

Many County Board members felt that giving each deputy his own patrol car was not efficient, but Toftant said that the defeat of the replacement cars and the program was a mistake.

Not only were there less repair costs for the vehicles, but the defeated program minimized deputy overtime and was a better crime deterrent, Toftant said.

"There was more promptness in answering calls," Toftant said. "Whenever the deputies were in their cars, they were on duty. And there were more cars on the street."

The committee also heard from County Clerk Evelyn Bowles and Circuit Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell.

Portell said reducing the department's budget of $899,236 "would not be in order."

"We expect more work because of what the state is giving us," Portell said.

Miss Bowles said that bills going through the General Assembly could make her expenses increase. One proposal in Springfield would call for an outside audit of election results, which she said would be costly and unnecessary.

3 years in Venice and Madison cases

Courtney C. Maple Jr., 35, of Apartment 33, Garsche Homes, Madison, has been sentenced to three years in an Illinois penitentiary by Associate Judge Edward Ferguson.

The sentence was based on a July 12, 1981, Venice occurrence involving burglary and a theft of firearms that day-plus a Sept. 15, 1981, Madison burglary.

U.S. UNBOUND

The State Department said on May 19, 1981, the United States was not legally bound by the expired 1971 ABM treaty nor the unratified SALT II pact.

Solar additions are topic of program

The Plaza Palisades Group of the Sierra Club is inviting interested persons to one learn of the most valuable solar additions, which can be incorporated into an older home — the solar greenhouse.

Arthur Pedersen, technical director of the Solar Greenhouse Association and long-time engineer and architect, will present a spectrum of exciting ideas through slides and motion pictures on constructing solar greenhouses. In his multimedia program entitled, "The Do-It-Yourself Greenhouse: Solarization for Newer and Older Homes," he will draw upon long experience in design and construction of these solar marvels in the local climate.

Pedersen has planned a solar greenhouse workshop in Alton on May 21 to 23. His workshops are strictly hands-on experience. He also will discuss energy-saving greenhouses at tonight's meeting of the Sierra Club.

"The materials presented by Pedersen are both authentic and practical," said Tom Holzerlein, Sierra Club program chairman, who has attended Pedersen's workshops in the past and enjoyed his presentation at the Energy Savers Exposition. The public is being invited to attend tonight's meeting at 7:30 in First Presbyterian Church, Fourth and Albany streets, Alton. Refreshments will be served.

State highway spending plans will fill only half the need, Illinois Transportation Secretary John Kramer estimates. And some Madison County officials are unconvinced that it will meet even half of the local area's and region's requirements.

Nearly all lawmakers and citizens seem willing to see some rise in road taxes to a void pavement deterioration, Kramer believes.

But in this pivotal election year there remains widespread doubt whether Democrats, Republicans, Chicagoans and Downstateers will achieve sufficient harmony at Springfield to vote for more highway revenue.

Kramer unveiled a $440 million road repair and construction program Thursday for the July 1982-June 1983 fiscal year while asserting that $900 million is needed. Most of the $440 million is to be spent to restore winter-damaged highways.

The thick statewide allocation document lists: —$1,920,000 to resurface 2.18 miles of Interstate 270 from Route 111 to west of Route 137.

—700,000 to resurface five miles of Route 111 from Route 182 to Pontoon Road and from Chain of Rocks Road to South Roxana.

—And $27 million for construction work on Interstate 255, a six-lane circumferential route that will link the Jefferson Barracks Bridge and I-270. The section listed for 1982-83 is in the Centerville area.

The state agency said it will provide an additional project list only if new revenues are enacted, such as increases in gasoline taxes or truck fees.

The Illinois Senate Transportation Committee on Thursday sent to the Senate floor measures: —Increasing the motor fuel tax by 3.5 and then 4.5 cents a gallon (from 7 1/2 now to 11 cents in July 1982 and 12 cents in July 1983), in order to raise $104 million for state road work and $106 million for local road repair.

—Boosting passenger auto registration fees from the present $18 and $30 to a flat $44 a year, and increasing fees for other vehicles, to produce another $115 million for state road construction.

—And allowing heavier trucks on Illinois highways while increasing revenue by $50 million, by raising diesel fuel taxes two cents a gallon and assessing a user fee of 1.4 to 2.4 cents per mile, depending on a truck's weight.

Ephesians 1:3... "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings..."

The Apostle Paul is saying that God has already blessed us. Past tense. And that he has blessed us with all spiritual blessings. Everything we could possibly hope for has already been given to us!

This revelation can change your entire approach to God. Instead of spending countless hours in prayer asking God to give us something he has already given us, we can ask him to teach us how to receive his manifold blessings.

A good way to start changing our attitude is to start praising God for what he has done. Delight yourself in the Lord and he will give you the desires of your heart.

Do It Today.

Trio Unit hosts craft workshop

A craft day workshop and lesson on Swiss Cookery was the highlight of the monthly meeting of Trio Unit, Madison County Homemakers Extension Association, held at Hope Lutheran Church, last week.

Leaders Helen Towns and Arlene Brinkmeyer gave instructions on making various types of crafts including leaded stained glass, crocheting and tin punching. At noon Lucille Sackett and Helen Miller served a full course meal in true Swiss style. The dessert course was served by hostesses, Clara Schilling, Ruth Brave and Pat Mitchell.

After the meal, a lesson was given informing the group that Switzerland produces enough food for three-fifths of its population and that the 205,997 farms more than half are only 12 acres or less. Bread is served at each meal with the exception of noon, and a family of four may eat one loaf a day.

The pleasures of Swiss food is matched by the wines and spirits, according to the leaders. Kirsch, a colorless dry powerful liquid distilled from special mountain cherries favors one of the most famous of all the many specialties and Swiss cheese fondue, the leaders added.

Members received many recipes, some of which were used in the demonstration. Attendance prizes were awarded to Bea Rittenhouse, Florence Rapp and Sue Mann.

Pat Mitchell, chairman, announced the district meeting will be held at St. John United Church of Christ on May 18 at 12 noon. Luncheon will be served by the women of the church and tickets are available at $4. Mrs. Georgia Engelle will present a slide tour of the day, the chairman noted.

Hearing will decide adequacy of 'initiative' signatures; do some of potential signers take petitions too lightly?

We are somewhat unmoved by the shrill cries of alarm from the Coalition for Political Honesty over the group's failure to satisfy the State Board of Elections that "initiative" petitions were submitted in sufficient form and number.

The initiative plan would authorize voters to enact laws by petition and referendum.

Merits of the Coalition's case can be aired fully at a hearing scheduled for May 19. We won't attempt to prejudge the soundness of the board's finding that approved 247,777 signatures and disallowed 19,467. The approved total fell 4,921 short of the necessary number, 252,698.

The Coalition objects to a rule that everyone signing the initiative petition must reside in the same election district. The election board and a federal judge have said this requirement is needed in order for the board to be able to verify that signers are registered voters.

"Patrick Quinn, the 'one-man band' who is the heart and soul of the Coalition, is attaching the election to the preliminary ruling on a 'petty and absurd.' He adds, 'The decision to apply a grossly unfair restriction arbitrarily to harass citizens, signatures of many citizens who petitioned to vote on the initiative proposal.'

"Our complaint was substantial. I feel that we filled enough signatures, 256,234, to place the initiative on the Nov. 2 ballot. The board's improper action is designed to thwart the wishes of more than a quarter-million Illinoisans.

"The eliminated signatures were contained on petitions which included the names of voters from more than one election jurisdiction. For example, if five voters from Chicago signed a petition along with 15 persons from Cook County suburbs, the board would delete the five Chicago names from its count.

"This ridiculous rule makes about as much sense as requiring every signer of a petition sheet to have the same blood type as all the other signers. It is a blatantly unconstitutional attempt to harass citizens seeking to circulate referendum petitions.

"The restriction is contained in a law passed by the General Assembly in 1979 in an effort to stop the Coalition's drive for the 'legislative' 'backlash' amendment to change the size of the Illinois House. (The restriction subsequently was approved, and the House of Representatives will change from 59 three-member districts to 118 one-member districts with the November 1982 election of representatives.)

"As Quinn sees it, 'When the election board invoked that statute in 1980, the Illinois Supreme Court struck down portions of the statute.'

Firefighting, emergency care needed on busiest bridge

The Granite City overpass has wide road shoulders and the Martin Luther King Jr. Veterans Bridge, East St. Louis, has wide shoulders and a standpipe carrying water along its entire length, with frequent access for firehoses.

"But the busiest bridge artery across the Mississippi River, the Poplar Street Bridge, lacks both shoulders and water, it became painfully clear at Monday's spectacular crash and fire on the Illinois side of that span.

"Spectacularly frustrating traffic congestion developed that evening and continued on Tuesday. And emergency vehicles were hampered in reaching the collision scene, intensifying the injury, pain and damage.

When the chief interstate bridge here is full of traffic, there is no adequate way to get ambulances and fire trucks on and off it.

We don't have an instant remedy; the point should have been given more consideration when the spaghetti-like network of traffic lanes and ramps was being designed and financed in the 1960s.

"The bridge, Missouri and Uncle Sam gave it a lot of thought and try to devise at least a partial after-the-fact solution.

Fairness issue in ERA dispute

To the Editor:

Is it fair for women to be paid only 95 cents to every dollar paid to men in Illinois, it's only 57 cents.

With the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, women would be paid the same as men for the same work.

Is it fair for college-educated women to be paid less than men who dropped out of high school?

Is it fair that a woman's full-time work in the home goes unrecognized in her Social Security, pension and credit laws?

Most of our current laws governing the economic security of families are based on an old, idealized view of families. The picture of an employed husband, full-time homemaker wife, and two children under 18 fits less than 10 percent of American families.

Today, over 50 percent of women are employed to support themselves or their families. One in every nine women is the sole provider for her family.

Under ERA, a homemaker would be recognized for her economic contribution, requiring changes in aspects of Social Security, pension plans, retirement benefits and inheritance laws and providing fair and equal treatment under the law.

Under ERA, employed women would have powerful tool to challenge sex-biased assumptions inherent in many of today's laws.

The Equal Rights Amendment fits the realities of 1982. The complete, unabridged text of ERA reads:

"Section 1:

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

"Section 2:

"The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article."

"This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification."

Is it fair to deny 50 percent of all Americans equality in our society?

McKendree enrollment growing

To the Editor:

As we look to the future, the college faculty has a sense of excitement and anticipation. Evidence of this spirit was obvious when 35 faculty and staff members spent the entire day cleaning and beautifying the campus.

There are good reasons for this renewed spirit of commitment and confidence at McKendree.

First, in the last three years, the college has realized increased financial support from alumni, churches, corporations and friends. This is reflected in the fact that our unrestricted gift aid has increased from $200,000 in 1979 to our goal of $500,000, which we plan to reach by the end of this fiscal year.

Included in this amount is a sizeable increase in alumni giving and support from churches. Also, we have been receiving $200,000 in gifts and pledges in our major campaign to reduce the accumulated deficit.

Second, last October, McKendree was completed and will be used by the Financial Affairs Division of the State of Illinois. The building is named Alexander Wildy Hall.

Fourth, the hallmark of a good liberal arts college is the quality of its faculty. Through careful and exclusive recruiting, we have added a number of outstanding individuals to our faculty.

This year, we are looking forward to adding several additional faculty members, which should strengthen our academic area.

One of the goals established in 1979 was to recruit key administrators. We have employed Steve Jackson as director of admissions. Jackson formerly was assistant director of admissions at Coe College in Iowa.

After arriving, he reviewed an entirely new admissions staff. The result of their effort is greater than our most ambitious predictions.

Last year at this time, we had 141 applications. Today, we have processed 307. It is in spite of the fact that many colleges are facing a decline in enrollment.

Realtors urging smaller deficit

To the Editor:

Congress and the president will soon be hearing from Realtors, who want the federal government to stop charging the nation's business the world's largest credit card.

The only way to lead our nation out of the credit crunch and restore health to the economy is for the federal government to reduce its budget deficit.

As long as the federal government keeps spending more money than it receives, our nation's economy will continue to founder. The U.S. has become history's largest debtor, and it still wants to go farther and further into debt.

Realtors have decided to call for a halt to the credit spending spree.

Congress and the president have until May 15 under current law to produce a federal budget for the coming fiscal year. The budget should have a much smaller deficit than has been projected, to send a signal to Wall Street that will cause interest rates to come down.

Federal officials talk about $182 billion as being a realistic figure for the budget deficit. Pres. Reagan.

If I handled my own finances the way the government handles its finances, I'd probably wind up in debtor's prison. We have got to make Congress and the president put politics aside and agree on a realistic budget.

Our association is working on figures that will show how much advantage Illinois would receive economically from a federal budget with the kind of reduced deficit we are demanding.

The effect on loan interest rates and the number of new jobs that would be created in Illinois would be dramatic.

The new dental school, at the university's Alton center, is the first in the state outside of Cook County. The dental school will have a non-proprietary curriculum that will graduate the first class in three calendar years rather than the traditional four. Students and faculty will be on campus about 44 weeks per year.

Picture a 1913 bride and groom traveling to the church in a horse-drawn carriage. The horse's back is covered with a hand-embroidered and crocheted shawl bearing the words, "Good Morning."

The horse would wear this during the next few days when the newly-married couple visited relatives on both sides of the family.

Or, envision a Yugoslav farmer sitting at the hearth on a winter's evening, painstakingly carving a chess set. Better yet, draw into the mind's eye exquisite cut glass globes, woolen, hand-tooled game boxes; miniature handcrafted haywagons, wine presses, farm buildings, and windmills; needlepoint pillows; hand-painted wooden eggs; and hand-carved mountain climbing sticks.

All these items and many more are on display in the library at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The exhibit will remain open to the public through May 23, according to Marie Pass, library clerk.

The articles belong to members of the Slavic and East European Friends at the University, a group of people of Slavic and East European descent who are interested in preserving their ethnic culture and traditions.

Cultural groups represented in the exhibit include people having Bulgarian, Croatian, Czech, Hungarian, Lithuanian, Polish, Russian, Slovak, Slovene, and Ukrainian backgrounds.

Proceeds raised by the organization's activities are primarily used in establishing student awards, scholarships and loan funds. In addition, the Friends have been responsible in providing Lovejoy Library with a vast amount of material representative of the Slavic and European cultures.

South downs Cahokia: still in conference race

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — John Modica, Granite City South's baseball coach, would have been happier if the Warriors had been able to win both games of Monday's doubleheader with Cahokia.

Although the Warriors lost the second game of the doubleheader 7-5, South won the first game — the game that REALLY mattered — 6-4.

The first game of the doubleheader was the important game because it kept the Warriors alive in the race for first place in the Gateway East Conference. The second game did not figure in the conference standings.

In order for South to have a chance for a share of the conference title with Granite City North, the Steelers must lose at Edwardsville Monday. If North loses, the Warriors would have to defeat Edwardsville Wednesday (May 19) at Granite City to earn a piece of the championship.

A North victory Monday would give the Steelers sole possession of the GEC title. Cahokia is now out of title contention as it finished 4-4 in the GEC. "We'll just have to keep our fingers crossed," Modica said.

Modica would have preferred winning the second game as well because to set a winning pattern for the Warriors. So did the Warrior ball players.

Warrior Joe Schneke, the winning pitcher in the first game, said, "We needed the first game to stay in the conference race. We needed to take the doubleheader because we need to keep winning so we'll be ready to go in the tournaments."

"I thought we were really down after losing to North, and I thought we wouldn't have a chance against Tenholder who beat North twice."

John Modica
Warrior baseball coach

Schneke was one of the reasons South had few problems Cahokia in the first game. Schneke pitched a four-hitter and held the Comanches to just one hit through the fifth inning.

"My arm was a little sore, but I was able to pitch the curve ball pretty well, but I started to lose it in the fourth through seventh inning when I started to walk a few batters," Schneke said. Fortunately for Schneke, the Warriors played errorless ball in the first game and kept him out of serious trouble.

The Warriors also mastered Cahokia pitcher Rick Tenholder in the first five innings. South's ability to hit the ball off Tenholder, who defeated North twice this season, stunned Cahokia coach Chet Barker.

"Tenholder's the pitcher as North's pitchers, but South hasn't been able to beat North this year. South has always been better than us when they needed to win."

"We can't seem to win the important games," Parker said. "South is a well coached ball team, and they're always good when they have to be. South is the one team Tenholder's had trouble with this year."

Dave Modrusic scored South's first inning run on Rick Daly's single. The Warriors added two runs in the third when Phil Dudak reached on an error, Modrusic walked, and George Jarvis hit a single which drove home both Dudak and Modrusic.

Larry Holder scored South's fourth inning run on Daly's second RBI single. South knocked Tenholder out of the game in the fifth inning. Jarvis walked and Tom Newton hit a double. Milt Roe responded by hitting a single to drive both runs home. Tenholder hit Holder with a pitch, and the Cahokia hurler was done for the game.

Less than a week earlier, South was at its lowest low. The Warriors lost to North for the fourth time this season because of unearned runs. The Warriors were to be going downhill rather than uphill.

"I thought we were really down after losing to North and I thought we wouldn't have a chance against Tenholder, who beat them twice. I left it up to them to decide whether they wanted to win, and we won the next four games," Modica said.

errors by the Warriors cost South a 5-3 lead and allowed Cahokia to score three runs, two on John Sweeney's double. Daily was productive in the second game as well. The senior doubled and scored in the first inning, drove in Milt Roe in the third inning with a single, and intentionally walked and scored in the fifth inning.

"You don't like to lose any game, but you have to give the sophomores a chance to play. We played as well as we're capable of doing in the first game. If it wasn't for the errors, we would have won the second game too," Modica said.

Trojanettes defeat North, win third straight

MADISON — A slow starting Trojanette softball team defeated the Granite City North Steelers Wednesday 10-3. For Madison it was their third win in as many days.

Monday the Trojanettes defeated Assumption in five innings 12-2. Tuesday the Trojanettes edged Waterloo 7-5, and yesterday Madison outbatted the Steelers for their third victory.

The win adjusts the Trojanette record to 4 and 4. The Lady Steelers are 2 and 10 on the season.

In the early innings it was North who displayed the power. North's pitcher Kristy Whitaker held the Trojanettes scoreless in the first inning, striking out Madison's first two batters.

The momentum, however, changed shortly afterwards. Madison came alive in the second inning as Stephanie Walker started the Madison inning with a triple, her first of three hits on the day.

Walker later scored on a single by Lori Prothro. At the end of two innings, North held on to a slim 2-1 lead, but Madison at that point was clearly the aggressor.

Following a scoreless Steeler third inning, Madison managed a four-run inning to take the lead 5-1.

Ruth Jacks started the Madison inning with a lead off single. Nancy Mikolazuk drew four balls, and Walker batted her second triple of the afternoon, scoring Jacks and Mikolazuk. Mikolazuk scored from third on a grounder by Angelette Dandrige to shortstop. Madison's fourth run of the third inning was scored by Lori Prothro who reached on a walk. Two stolen bases and Karen Voloski's grounder to shortstop provided the distraction to get Madison's fourth run of the inning.

In the fourth inning, following a Steeler scoreless inning, Madison's Kim Stanley belted a one-out single to get things going for Madison. Jacks doubled scoring Stanley who was now on second.

Walker got her third hit of the afternoon as she doubled, scoring Jacks. Dandrige reached on an error, scoring Walker. Lori Prothro followed suit, scoring Dandrige with a double. A ground out by Voloski ended the inning.

In the fifth inning, North's Jill Bledsoe led off with a single. Following a stolen base and Kathy Hutchings' sacrifice fly to left field, Bledsoe scored what turned out to be North's final score of the game.

Madison managed a single run in their half of the fifth inning, to adjust the score to what later turned out to be the final score: 10-3.

After the game Madison's coach Carol Stearns said she was pleased with her team's performance. She said she's hoping that a winning season in the team's first year will increase interest in the sport for next year.

Madison, currently 6-4 on the season, will have to defeat North again on Thursday, May 20, to have that winning season.

This afternoon the Steelers face conference rival Edwardsville. Action begins at 4 p.m.

SAFE AT THIRD. Madison Trojanette Nancy Mikolazuk slid under the tag of Assumption's Tonya Cox in the teams' Monday afternoon contest. The Trojanettes won the game in five innings 12-2.

Steeler netters foil Eagles, now 7-8

BETHALTO — Following a brief losing streak, the Granite City Steeler tennis team is once again on the winning track.

Following a 5-2 loss to Wood River Tuesday, the Steelers came back Wednesday to defeat the Civic Memorial Eagles 6-3. The victory adjusts the Steeler record this year to 7-8.

In Wednesday's match, the Steelers dominated the singles competition, winning five of the six played. First singles player Kendall Whittington defeated CM's Scott Howes in straight sets 6-3, 6-3.

Steeler sophomore David Lippe downed Matt Crum 6-1, 6-4 in second singles competition.

Bethalto's Blake Gregory took North's Everett Jolly to three before Jolly emerged on top 6-1, 6-7, 6-2.

Granite North
Steelers

North's fourth singles player, Junior Jesse Byrd, after being down in the third set 5-2 battled back to win five straight games to win the set and the match 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

North's Jeff Rush defeated Greg Johnson 6-4, 6-1 in fifth singles competition. Rush, a freshman, looks to play a prominent picture in future Steeler tennis teams.

In sixth singles, Bethalto's Steve Huff defeated Scott Dennis 6-4, 6-1, to give the Steelers their only singles loss.

In first doubles competition, Whittington and Lippe teamed to defeat Howes and Crum in straight sets 6-2, 6-2.

In the afternoon's second singles competition, North's Mike Lauderdale and Rush were defeated by CM's Gregory and Huff 2-6, 1-6.

In the final match of the afternoon, North's Dave Warfield and Dave Goff fell to CM's Tim Pruitt and Dave Johnson 4-6, 0-6.

After the match Steeler coach John Van Buskirk praised the play of his team, calling it an "excellent team effort."

"It's great to be winning again," Van Buskirk said.

This afternoon the Steelers will be at home as they take on conference rival Edwardsville for their last home pairing of the season.

Monday the Steelers travel to Althoff to take on the Crusaders. Tuesday, for their last scheduled pairing of the season, the Steelers take on Indians in Mascoutah. All matches begin at 4 p.m.

Warrior tennis team drops two, now 7-12

GRANITE CITY — It's been a bad week for the Warrior tennis team.

Tuesday the Warriors took on perennial tennis power O'Fallon and emerged 7-0 victims. That was a pairing South tennis coach Rich Harmon didn't expect to win.

Wednesday, however, Harmon was a little more optimistic about the pairing against Wood River. Unfortunately, optimism doesn't always breed winners — the Warriors lost that pairing also 5-2.

In first singles action Wednesday, South's John Menendez lost to Brook Borman in identical sets of 6-3.

South's Matt Sheridan had an equally difficult time with Rich Kuehnel in second singles competition, losing 6-3, 7-6.

Granite South
Warriors

In third singles competition, South's Charlie Miles fell to Wood River's Barry Craig 6-4, 7-6, 0-6.

In the final singles match, Kevin

Dickerson lost to Wood River's Ted Overby in straight sets 6-1, 6-1.

The first of South's two victories of the afternoon came in first doubles competition. South's Menendez and Sheridan teamed to defeat Wood River's Borman and Ron Spaeth 6-3, 6-2. Both Menendez and Sheridan teamed just two weeks ago to finish second in doubles competition in the prestigious Belleville East Tennis Invitational.

In second doubles competition, Miles and Tom Hill lost to Wood River's Craig and Kuehnel 6-2, 6-3.

In the final match of the afternoon, South's Don Kaltmayer and Brian Sparks defeated John Beeler and Tim Hall 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, as the Warriors picked up their second victory of the day.

The loss adjusts South's record to 7-12 on the season.

The Warriors are off the rest of the week, but play Belleville East Monday at home. That match begins at 4 p.m.

Trojan tracksters out distance Dupo, win 74-67

ON THE BALL. Madison trackster Steven Ball rounds the first corner of the 800 meter run Monday afternoon. Ball dashed his way to a second place finish in the event. Madison won the track meet over Dupo and Althoff.

MADISON — With a victory in the final event, the mile relay, the Madison Trojan track team edged Dupo Monday 74-67. Althoff finished a distant third in the triangular meet with 34 points. Going into the mile relay, Madison held a slim two point lead over the Tigers, 69-67.

Madison's Brian Brown, Leroy Howard sealed the Madison victory in the event with a time of 3:58.9. The Trojans received a little help from Althoff, as the Crusaders finished second, six seconds behind. A third place finish for Dupo yielded no points.

The Trojans turned in some outstanding performances on their way to the win.

In the afternoon's first event, the two-mile relay, Madison flexed their muscles as the Trojans dashed to a first place finish, posting a time of 9:12.8 in the event. Howard, Latham, Charles Fuller and Rodney Gary captured first place honors for the Trojans.

In the 400 meter relay, Madison's A.C. Ware, John Lewis, Brian Brown and Leonard finished second with a time of 47.4. It was Lewis' first time in the event.

John "Skywalker" Lewis was more at home in his three field events. Lewis, who broke his own high jump record Saturday at the Orphan Relays in Centralia, needed only to jump 5-foot-10 Monday to capture first.

Lewis, who earlier this year broke Madison's high jump record of 6-foot-2½ by jumping 6-foot-4, jumped 6-foot-6 at Centralia.

Charles Stappoe, Madison's track coach, is hoping for even greater things from the 5-foot-8 tall high jumper in the future.

"I think it's great. I think he might even be able to reach 6-8."

Winning the high jump was only the first of three first place finishes for Lewis Monday. He managed a first place finish in the long jump with a jump of 20-foot-8, and first in the triple jump, leaping and skipping his way 39 feet for his third first of the day.

Dupo managed a first place finish in the 800 meter relay, but the Trojans' Ware, Latham, Brian Brown and Leonard were in pursuit as they finished less than two seconds behind the Tiger tracksters with a time of 1:40.8.

Madison's Gary grabbed a second place finish in the 110 yard high hurdles posting a time of 18.7, behind Dupo.

In the 800 meter run, Gary and Steven Ball finished first and second respectively. Gary paced himself with the pack and finally pulled away with 320 meters remaining. Ball, on the other hand, had a different strategy.

From the beginning of the race Ball ran his own way, waiting for the precise moment to make his move.

After the first 400 meters, Ball had fallen to sixth place. It seemed as though Madison's only points in the event would come from Gary.

Ball knew differently. He had no sooner finished the first of the two lap race before he "turned it on." The Madison trackster proved distance runners have more than endurance as he sprinted the final 400 meters, passing four opponents to take second place behind Gary.

In the 400 meter run, Charles Fuller and Santos Howard finished first and second respectively. Fuller ran 55.1 and Howard came in 56.4, 3/4 seconds behind Fuller.

In the mile run, Gary finished first with a time of 5:08.6. Dupo's Thielman finished second just a tenth of a second behind Gary.

Madison's Walter Davis finished second in the shot put with a distance of 35.9. Althoff's Miller won the event with a distance 38 feet.

Warriors edge Indians, Eagles in triangular meet

BETHALTO — For the Granite City South Warrior track team it has been a season of close seconds. Monday the Warriors changed all that.

In two different meets the Warriors have finished behind both conference rivals Cahokia and Granite City North by a total of five points. In both instances the meets were decided in the final two events.

With the meet tied and only the final event to go, it appeared as though the Warriors would be denied a victory once again.

South's Scott Abbott and Dan Harris, the two Warriors who ran the final event, had different ideas.

The Warrior tracksters didn't let this one get away. The two speedsters finished first and second in the event to lift South to the victory. Abbott's time was 23.2, while Harris posted a time of 23.8.

Abbott, it was a red letter day. In addition to his meet-winning, personal best performance in the 200 meter relay, he also managed another personal best performance.

In the 110 high hurdles, Abbott's time of 15.6, was four-tenths of a second better than his previous best.

"It's great to win these close ones," said Mel Bunting, South's track coach. "Our kids really came through for us."

In addition to Abbott, Bunting praised

Granite South Warriors

the performance shot putter Tom Gann. Gann, he said, threw for 42-4½, seven inches better than his previous best.

Warrior sophomore pole vaulter Paul Whitworth improved his personal best performance by six inches in that event. Monday-Whitworth vaulted 12 feet.

South's two premiere distance runners, Dave McLean and Jim McQuaide, monopolized in the distance events. McLean and McQuaide finished first and second respectively in the mile and two mile runs.

South also managed a first place in the 3200 meter relay as Steve Dumont, Ron Brown, Bill Harizal and Jeff Hoese dominated Mascoutah's and Eagle's teams.

Friday, May 21, the Warriors travel to Belleville for the district track meet.

Red Devils foil Assumption in softball

VENICE — The Lady Red Devils held on to a one run lead Tuesday to defeat the Assumption Pioneers 18-17. Venice jumped out to an early four to one first inning lead with the help of back to back singles by Jackie Chatman and Cassandra White.

Assumption took an 8-6 lead in the second inning as the Pioneers managed five hits. An equal number Venice errors aided Assumption in their biggest inning.

In the third inning Venice retaliated with seven runs in the third inning to retake the lead 13-9. Highlights of the inning included a timely single by Letitia Miller, a triple by Chatman and a double by Janice Bradley. Following a scoreless Assumption fourth inning, Venice increased their lead to 17-9 in the bottom of the inning as the Red Devils took advantage of Pioneer errors. Assumption closed the point spread in the fifth as the Pioneers picked up two runs to adjust the score to 17-11.

A scoreless Red Devil fifth inning dashed all hopes of ending the game in five innings.

The Pioneers, who seemed to be out of the ball game from the third to sixth innings, began to threaten the Red Devil lead as they scored four runs in their half of the sixth.

Venice managed an insurance run in the sixth inning as Miller scored following her single. She stole second base, advanced to third on a pass ball, and finally scored on Chatman's fly to right field.

With the score 19-15 in the seventh, the momentum had clearly switched in Assumption's favor.

Assumption's Monneye Wright reached on an error, stole two bases and then scored from third when Venice's White's attention was elsewhere.

For Assumption it was do or die — and it was obvious. They were taking risks on the bases that they would normally not.

Laverne Ervin followed Wright to the plate, and she too managed stole bases before scoring on Carla Thomas' single.

With Venice's lead cut to one, the Red Devils seemed to be awakened by the thought of possibly losing the game they had nearly ended in the fifth inning due to the 10 run rule. Venice retired the next three players — one was picked off second base, and the final two fled out. Venice's record to 2-6 on the season. Assumption, who lost to Madison the day before is 2-12.

The Red Devils take on St. Paul of Highland May 18 at home.

Lang says state track qualifying times are too difficult

By ROGER KRAMER

GRANITE CITY — There will probably be only one way for the girls of both Granite City North and Granite City South to advance from Friday's Class AA District Meet at Belleville East to the State Finals at Eastern Illinois University May 21-22.

There are two ways to qualify for the state track meet. One is by placing first or second in an event, and the other is to make qualifying times set by the Illinois High School Association.

As far as Harry Lang, Granite City North's track coach, is concerned, there will be only one way for the girls to advance. That is by placing first or second.

Lang, like many other girls track coaches, believes the qualifying times for the girls track meet are much too difficult for even the gifted athlete to obtain.

"I think they (the IHSA) are out of

"I think the IHSA is out of touch with girls' track. It would take a World Class athlete to break some of those qualifying standards."

Harry Lang
Steeler track coach

touch with girls track," Lang said. "It would take a world class athlete to break some of those qualifying standards. The boys' standards are difficult, but they are obtainable.

"No coach believes their athletes are going to throw the discus 40 feet further, run the mile a minute faster or a 400 five second faster. Most agree the qualifying standards are too strict," Lang said.

Lang argues that an athlete has to be one of the top five athletes in the state in order to qualify under those standards. Those few people who do make the standard have also probably placed first or second in the district anyway, and the third, fourth or fifth place qualifier has little chance to qualify.

"I don't think they have either looked at the times since they started the meet or else they don't want that many qualifying for state," Lang said. The problems are particularly acute for both the Stealers and Warriors. Both squads are placed in the same district as East St. Louis (Sr.) and East St. Louis Lincoln, who are among the top track teams in the state.

"One of our girls who might be able to qualify in a weaker district cannot qualify in this district because those two teams go one-two in each event. I would drive 200 miles to Timbuktu just to get into a weaker district," Lang said.

But this year, just like any other year, the Stealers and Warriors will have to contend with the East St. Louis teams.

Lang found a good combination for his four relay squads at the Gateway East Conference meet last Thursday, and he said the Stealers will go with the same girls in the relays Friday.

Senior Lisa Kalke, sophomore Donna Broyles and Nancy McClew, and freshmen Rachael Coleman and Emile McWhorter are North's quintet who will run in the 400, 800 and 1600 relay and the 800 medley.

Freshman Paula Rozycki, who won the 400 meter dash in the GEC meet, will run both the 100 and 200 hurdles in the district meet.

"It's an awful lot of freshman to put her in the 400 against the kind of competition she'll have. We thought the hurdles would be more obtainable for her than the 400," Lang said.

Senior Christy Lauderdale also has a good shot of qualifying in the 3200 meters. Freshman Debbie Brandt should also be one of the top competitors in the discus.

"I hope our times rank in the top eight this year so that we can be in the fast heat," Lang said. "Every year, we have the ninth best time and we're placed in the second heat. We usually win that heat, but when you're ahead by a lot, you tend to slow down.

"If you're behind, you push yourself a little more to go faster," he added. The freshmen have been invaluable to North's recent success. "I know we had a good freshman class, but I didn't think we were going to be this good this year," Lang said.

The Warriors have talent too. Michelle Shoemaker and Mary Romine should be two of the better distance runners in the meet.

Both Lisa Adams and Jennifer Robinson could do some good things for South in the discus, shot put and high jump.

Trish Skinner should be one of the better long jumpers in the district meet.

Steeler diamondmen break jinx

GRANITE CITY —

Granite City North's baseball team broke its jinx against non-conference teams—at least for the time being.

The Stealers defeated Alton 8-7 Monday despite three home runs by the visiting Redbirds.

North, now 10-10 for the season, used a five-run fifth inning to defeat Alton.

"We needed to come back and win this one after losing those three non-conference games last week," North coach Bob Stegmeyer said.

The Stealers' hitting in the fifth inning was responsible for the victory, but the inning started out slim for the Stealers.

With one out, Steve Tritschuh walked. He later stole second, but there were two outs and the chances of Tritschuh scoring were slim.

However, Rod Heasler hit a single to score Tritschuh. Kevin Hayes walked and Kevin Patterson was intentionally walked to load the bases. Mike Sullivan singled two runs home, and Patterson scored on an error. Daren DePew's double scored Sullivan to close the scoring.

The Stealers needed two runs in the sixth inning, including a solo home run by Tritschuh, to insure the victory.

Alton's Mike Saaf hit two home runs, and Dan Hopkins added another home for the Redbirds to make things interesting.

Although the Stealers made two errors, Stegmeyer noted his team made fewer mental errors than in the last three losses.

Ray Takamajian was the winning pitcher for North, and Jimmy Burton picked up the save.

South athlete, was named National Co-ed Female Rookie of the Year in 1980 in addition to her "all-State" status.

Mike Deterding is currently the assistant women's coach at SIUC, as well as a former member of the Men's Club Team.

Persons participating in the camp will be instructed in pass combinations, skill work, and general improvement of their game.

GC men advance to national pool tourney

Two Granite City men, by virtue of their eight and nine ball billiard victories in the Lite Beer World Series of Tavern Pool, will advance to the national championship tournament to be held June 2-8 at Caesar's Palace Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev.

Dan Hicks and Rick Rose, who play billiards at Hoppe's Tavern located on Edwardsville Road, are the two making the trip to Las Vegas. Lite Beer and Sports Tournaments of America, in association with Caesar's Palace, Unalut Air Lines, and Funway Holidays share most of the expenses for the trip.

Hicks will attend the national tournament by virtue of his victories in the local and regional eight-ball tournaments. Rose was the winner in both local and regional nine-ball tournaments.

For their victories in the regional tournaments, both men received $150 cash in addition to the trip to Las Vegas to compete in the national tournament.

Should either Hicks or Rose win in the national tournament, they would receive $25,000. For a second place finish, either will receive $10,000 and $5,000 for a third place finish.

The eight-ball tournament begins June 2 and will last through June 4. The nine ball tournament begins June 6, concluding June 8.

Tony Vesel Jr., area manager of Vesel Inc., a local distributor, sponsored the local tournament.

7-year state prison term

Charles Baker, 26, of the 700 block of Weaver Street, Venice, has been ordered to serve seven years in an Illinois Department of Corrections prison.

Tried before Circuit Judge Philip Rarick, Baker was accused of a burglary taking place Aug. 2, 1981, in Venice. A guilty verdict was returned at a trial held Feb. 24, and the sentencing took place later.

It was alleged that he was caught by Venice police emerging from the window of the burglarized home of Sharon Howell, 1029 Market St., at 1:20 a.m.

Incident ends in two arrests

Officers were waiting outside 2406 Illinois Ave. at 8:05 p.m. Sunday for Patricia Barrow to arrive and retrieve personal belongings there when she drove up and parked in the middle of the street; a man alleged, carrying a shotgun, police alleged.

George E. Barrow, 27, of 2154 Delmar Ave. was ordered to halt but allegedly continued into the residence and was pursued by officers and stopped inside. Necessary force was used to take the shotgun, the police said, and the man was charged with unlawful use of a weapon.

Mrs. Barrow told police she had been staying temporarily on Illinois Avenue. While there a short time earlier, she alleged being struck in the face by Steven R. Frederick, 30, of 2428 Logan Ave. when she stepped between Frederick and a relative who were arguing.

Police were still at the home when Frederick called and was asked to return to the address. Upon his arrival, he was arrested and booked on an allegation of battery, the complaint being signed by Mrs. Barrow. Both men were released upon posting cash bonds later Sunday night.

RELIGIOUS AWARDS TO SCOUTS.

Four Boy Scouts of Troop 7, sponsored by St. Joseph Catholic Church, were presented with the Ad Altare Dei Award in ceremonies held in Springfield. The highest religious award a Catholic Scout may earn, the Pope Pius XII Religious Emblem, was presented by Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas to Steve Kusmierczak, third from the left, who earned his Ad Altare Dei Award in 1980. Scouts, from the left are, Kevin Williams, Joe Kusmierczak, Steve Kusmierczak and Eric and Karl Markovich. Every Boy Scout pledges duty to God and Scouts and is encouraged to be faithful in the practice of his particular religious beliefs. As a result, 47 percent of all Scouting units are chartered by various religious bodies.

4% multiplier on farming land

A county-wide multiplier of 1.0411 will be applied to all farmland in Madison County for the tax year of 1981, the office of Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton learned during the weekend.

What this means for all county farmers is a four percent increase in assessed valuation, he said.

Madison County, because of township multipliers to adjust assessments, will receive the desired multiplier of 1.0 for the 1981 tax year (collection in 1982) on real estate.

Barton said the 1.0411 multiplier on farmland does not result from any county Board of Review action.

He said all counties in Illinois received the farm multiplier from the state, with Madison County getting one of the smallest ones. Two counties received negative multipliers on farmland, he said.

The farm multiplier in one county was 2.215, he said. Barton said farmland multipliers were determined by the state based on value of crops raised and sold, among other things.

He said his office had been aware that other counties were receiving the farmland multiplier, but that Madison County had gotten no word. "We checked, and found that they should have sent us a letter," he said.

The multiplier will apply to woods and pastures as well as to land in crops. It does not apply to farm outbuildings.

Barton said the county has no choice but to apply the multiplier: "If we don't do it, they'll withhold certifying the multipliers to the county clerk."

The four percent increase in assessment of farmland will not mean a large jump in assessed valuation, Barton said.

In Madison County, the highest assessed valuation per acre was $380. The increase would raise that to $395.

The lowest assessed valuation per acre is close to $50, he said. With the farmland multiplier, the increase would be $2.

At St. Elizabeth Medical Center... "We are confident about the future"

St. Elizabeth's used to be a hospital. But it isn't anymore. It is a medical center.

When we changed our name from "hospital" to "medical center" a few years ago, it wasn't because we wanted a fancier name or because we wanted to impress people. It was because we had changed. We were bigger, more specialized. The word "hospital" no longer described St. Elizabeth's.

But St. Elizabeth's growth from hospital to medical center was not just a happy accident. Its success developed from the commitment of the Sisters of Divine Providence to serve this community and the community's willingness to support their work.

The result has been that St. Elizabeth's has established a strong foundation. From this firm base, we are more capable of meeting the health care needs of this area than ever before.

At St. Elizabeth's, we not only call ourselves a medical center, we see ourselves as just that, a center. A center from which to grow, with health care services extending further into the area we serve.

Tips for safe lawn mowing

With another lawn mowing season here, the Illinois State Nurserymen's Association has some suggestions to help assure that the task of taking care of a yard is a safe and productive one. "Take good care of your lawnmower for good results," says the ISNA.

There are two basic types of lawnmowers—the reel mower and the rotary mower.

The reel type cuts with a shearing action and, if kept properly sharpened, will give the lawn a clean, even cut. Improper adjustment of this type of mower will make the lawn appear uneven.

Rotary mowers have become increasingly popular because of their ease of handling and low cost. But they can be dangerous if not properly handled.

The blade on the rotary mower should be removed and sharpened frequently to make 20 to 30 hours of mowing to make a cut as possible, the ISNA says. A dull blade will tear the grass and cause general deterioration of the lawn.

"If the mower blade is dull, it tears off the grass. Then the tips dry back, leaving cracked and frayed split ends," James D. Hayward, ISNA secretary, says.

"The grass tips will eventually turn brown and break off, giving the appearance of a brown lawn. Keeping the mower clean is important. After use, be sure to remove any grass clippings and wipe the blades with an oily rag."

"If the mower is left out where it will dry quickly before storing. Clean the air filter and change the oil every 20 hours of mowing to assure good performance and long engine life."

"Before mowing, check to make sure the cutting height is set properly."

"Cutting the grass too short tends to weaken the turf and increase susceptibility to weed invasion and drought."

"If the grass is cut too high, it often takes on a shaggy or non-uniform appearance. The standard cutting height for most grasses is about two inches."

"It is advisable to mow more than 50 percent of the height at any one time. And keep safety uppermost in mind when operating a power lawnmower."

According to Consumer Product Safety Commission statistics, every year about 60,000 Americans require hospital emergency room treatment because they have been injured by power mowers.

The number one cause of injury is direct contact with the mower blades. The second most common injury is from objects tossed up from the ground by the mower.

The ISNA ADVISES: Read your mower instruction book yearly to refresh your memory on mower operation. Especially, read through the book if you plan to do any maintenance or repairs on the mower.

It is usually best to let an expert check your mower for leaks, electrical short-circuits and blade condition before the new season.

Many do-it-yourselfers get hurt because their mowers start unexpectedly when the blade is turned by hand.

When working on the blade itself, place a block of wood under it to hold it steady.

If you spot a fuel leak or frayed wires, take the mower to a service repairman to have it repaired. Frayed wires can deliver a jolt to someone standing on wet grass.

BEFORE YOU MOVE: Remove any rocks, twigs or other debris on the lawn. Wear sturdy shoes and safety glasses to protect your eyes.

Make sure there are no other persons in the area when you start the mower. Add fuel and wipe up any spills before starting the mower.

Adjust cutting height. If lawn is wet, wait. WHEN STARTING THE MOWER: Do not stand right beside the discharge chute. Do not aim the discharge chute at anyone. WHEN MOWING: Never run over gravel, stones or other movable objects.

Mow forward as much as possible, so you can see where you are going.

Never pour gasoline into the mower while it is running or when it is still hot.

When using an electric mower, make sure it is grounded and never mow in wet grass. Be sure to check the power cord frequently and replace it if it shows wear.

For a riding mower—be careful on slopes, and do not carry riders.

ALWAYS turn off the mower, even if you leave for just a moment.

ALWAYS shut off the mower to remove grass that is clogging the discharge chute.

WHEN STORING: Be sure to disconnect spark plugs so children cannot start it accidentally. Try not to store a gasoline-powered mower in the house.

Always keep maintenance up on your lawnmower over the next season. Enjoy your yard and have a safe summer, the ISNA concludes.

Debt collection passes House

The U.S. House of Representatives has passed by a vote of 402 to 3 a bill, sponsored in the Senate by Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, intended to strengthen the government's efforts to collect more than $33 billion owed in delinquent and overdue debts to federal agencies.

HR 445 contains some of the key provisions of the Debt Collection Act of 1981 which Percy introduced in the Senate last year.

Percy's bill, S. 1249, has been reported favorably out of the Senate's Finance and Government Affairs committees and is expected to be considered by the full Senate in the next two months.

"I am delighted by the overwhelming vote in the House," Percy said. "This bill will put some teeth into federal debt collection efforts which for too long have had no bite."

"When you consider that the $33.5 billion now overdue amounts to about $30 per taxpayer in this country, it certainly isn't fair that honest taxpayers have to foot the bill for those who default," Percy said.

His legislation would allow the federal government to report delinquent debtors to commercial credit bureaus, a procedure widely used in the private sector but currently prohibited by law.

It would also allow collection agencies assisting the government's debt collection efforts to gain access to Internal Revenue Service records of the names and addresses of debtors.

The Debt Collection Act, which has the full support of the administration, is expected to enable the government to collect $10 billion in delinquent debts over the next three years, according to President Ronald Reagan's budget for the 1982-83 fiscal year.

The federal government operates 358 loan programs in 24 agencies. The total debt of the United States is now $293 billion.

Of this amount, $33.5 billion is past due for unpaid taxes, delinquent loans and overpayments to beneficiaries of various government programs.

Prepare For Air Conditioning . . High Temperatures Don't Have To Mean High Electric Bills

If you thought air conditioning costs were high last summer, you may want to sit down for the U.S. Department of Energy's latest forecast: Electricity costs per kilowatt hour are expected to rise again as much as 21 percent.

That means cooling a home in many parts of the country will cost more than heating it.

Last summer, high electricity usage — particularly in the South, which was plagued by a torrid heat wave — combined with a 20 percent increase in kilowatt hour costs to cause many energy bills to skyrocket.

Cases in Point

Texas and Kansas, in fact, offer cases in point for the entire country.

Texas Power & Light reported 45 consecutive 100-degree-plus days, leading to two electrical consumption records on July 16 and August 21. Overall, when factoring in an increased electricity cost of 28 percent, Dallas residents paid a whopping 50 to 90 percent more for their utility bills last summer than the year before.

In Wichita Falls, Kansas, where the temperature hit 117 degrees on June 29, demand forced the local utility to buy out-of-state power and use older generating equipment, nearly quadrupling rates to 20 cents per kilowatt hour from 5½ cents.

Energy-Efficiency the Answer

"Most experts agree that making homes more energy efficient is the single best way to combat the escalating costs of summer air-conditioning," says Charles Hartmann, market manager for Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, a leading manufacturer of glass fiber insulation.

Mr. Hartmann cites a three-year analysis of energy-efficient homes in Marion, Ark., conducted by Arkansas Power & Light (AP&L) and Owens-Corning.

The study, which compared nine carefully designed and constructed energy-efficient homes with nine conventional units, showed that only 9.4 percent of the total utility costs were for heating, while 20 percent went to cooling. The study further showed that total electrical consumption in the energy-efficient home was 50 percent less than in the conventional units; 70 percent less for heating and cooling only. On the recommendation of AP&L, these savings were estimated by assuming the base loads (hot water, lighting and appliances) for the conventional homes were equal to those of the energy-efficient homes.

An updated analysis found that residents of the high-efficiency homes paid only 9 percent more for electricity last July than in July 1979 despite mid-month temperatures above 100 degrees.

In contrast, owners of less energy-efficient homes paid about 20 percent more.

The reason for these impressive savings is not complicated: costly solar or mechanical systems, Mr. Hartmann says, but a combination of sensible energy-saving techniques, many of which could be incorporated into any home. These included caulking and weatherstripping, insulated doors, storm windows and window shading and, most important, extra-thick insulation in the attic and walls.

"Homeowners traditionally have believed that insulation is a coldweather product only — the 1980 heat wave helped to demonstrate to people this is not true," Mr. Hartmann says.

"Whenever there is a temperature difference inside and outside a house, there will be a transfer of heat. Insulation works just as well in keeping hot summer air outside as it does in keeping heated air inside during winter. Keeping summer heat out reduces the air conditioning load — helping to reduce electricity bills."

The Arkansas homes were built with 12 in. (R-38) of fiber glass insulation blankets in the attic, and 6 in. (R-19) in walls.

Another example of the effectiveness of an energy-efficient home in cutting air conditioning costs is that of Fred Ryals, a suburban Dallas resident who modeled his home after the Arkansas Project.

Two-Year Payback

"I set out to show that a normal looking, comfortable energy-efficient home could be built at little extra expense," Mr. Ryals says.

He proved just that. While his neighbors paid as much as 90 percent more (compared to 1979) to cool their homes last summer, Mr. Ryals' bills were only 10 to 15 percent higher — a direct result of properly installed insulation and properly sized air conditioning equipment.

Even better, the energy conserving features in Mr.

Ryals' home added less than 2 percent to its cost. With energy savings of $1,000 per year, his investment will pay for itself in two years (savings calculated by Texas Power & Light.).

The energy features include:

- 12 in. (R-38) Fiberglass insulation in ceilings.
- 6 in. (R-19) Fiberglass insulation in walls.
- Urethane insulation around the home's concrete-slab perimeter.
- Thermal windows with glass fiber solar screens in those facing east and west.
- Insulated exterior doors.
- Pipe insulation.
- Caulking and weatherstripping around doors and windows.
- Outlet and switch insulation.

Collect Tax Credit

Up to 15 percent of the cost of "qualified energy conservation expenditures," including insulation, storm doors and windows and caulking — to a maximum of $300 — may be deducted directly from the income taxes owed to the government.

Build A Deck For Outdoor Summer Fun

Materials Needed:

12 pcs. 2" x 4" Subframing pressure treated lumber, 5 pcs. 4" x 4" x 8' Posts, 30 pcs. 2" x 6" Decking & Benches pressure treated lumber, 4 I.D. Pipe Flanges, #12 Nails, 3" screws.

It's never too early to start planning a summer deck and other outdoor projects. This simple 2" x 6" flat deck can change a humdrum backyard into a real showplace for summer fun.

Because of its ease of construction and clean simplicity, this deck can compliment any yard decor and offer an excellent space for those yummy summer bar-b-ques.

We suggest you use pressure treated lumber that is specially protected by a process which forces preservatives deep into the cells of the wood. Advantages include low initial cost, minimal upkeep, long life and easy workability. Pressure Treated Lumber has a characteristic green/gold color which weathers to a pleasing gray.

Before building your deck, it is important to follow a few basic guidelines which can go a long way to make your project go smoothly. In most cases a hammer and saw are the only tools you'll need.

When cutting, remember to use a 10 to 15 point cross-cut saw if your cutting is to be done without power tools, and always saw with the face of the board up and firmly supported.

For power sawing, a standard all-purpose blade will give best results. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions for safe operation.

When drilling, use a brace and bit for larger holes, reversing and drilling from the opposite side once the bit point appears through the surface.

When building your deck next to the house, garage, or other structure, anchoring the deck to the building is recommended to provide maximum rigidity. It's also important to check any and all local building codes and requirements. Finally, lumber should always be fastened with either galvanized or non-ferrous metal fastenings.

Since outdoor decks are load-bearing and must be built to safe standards, use lumber of sizes similar to those used for home framing. Joists and stringers must be of proper grade and sizes to support loads for chosen spans. Using 2x4 decking on edge adds rigidity and permits wider spacing of joists. (Your building materials retailer can compute joist spans and determine dimension lumber requirements for this project as well as others.)

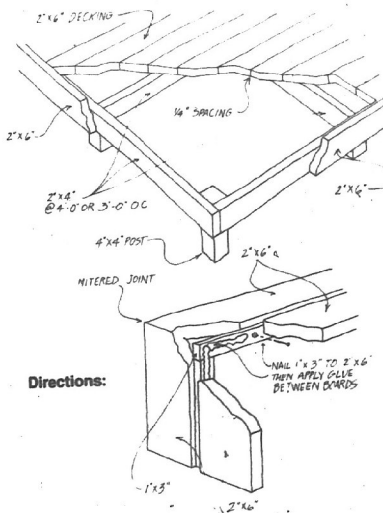

To avoid trapping moisture, design wood joints to allow air circulation and protect endgrain as much as possible.

Greater serviceability can be attained if the bark side of the wood is placed to the outside when nailing in place, especially when the wood is to be exposed to the weather. This prevents grain separation and the resultant tendency to splinter. Also, if you plan to paint your deck, this installation technique for boards and dimension retards paint checking and cracking. The outside or bark side is easily determined by the curvature of the growth rings, as observed on the end of the plank.

Those familiar terms, 2x4s, 2x6s, 4x4s and 1x8s used to designate different sizes of lumber are names rather than actual finished sizes. All western woods are ordered by these "nominal" sizes. Widths and thicknesses are thinner than nominal. Most slimming down occurs in the drying-out process and in the planning or finishing. These sizes for seasoned lumber are uniform through the country.

And don't forget, before beginning your project check local building codes and follow the tool manufacturer's instructions. Wear safety goggles when using hammer or power tools.

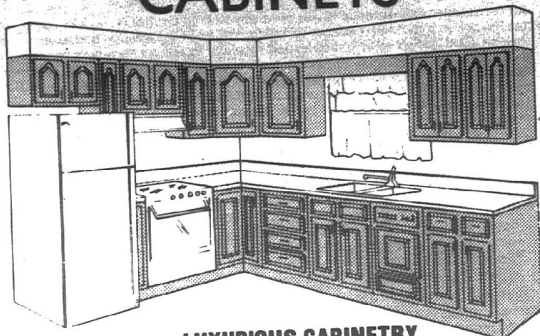

Building this special project can be fun for the whole family, and your Georgia-Pacific Registered Dealer is ready to help you with everything from pressure treated lumber to additional outdoor project plans. This 2" x 6" flat deck is one of the most common built by homeowner do-it-yourselfers. Simple construction is as follows. Level ground as much as possible. Set up 4" x 4" base posts. For best results sink 2' in ground. Use a level and chalk line to insure level placement. Nail 2" x 4" substructure to posts which are located at each framing intersection. If bench is desired, construct bench support as shown above before laying deck pieces. Next, nail 2" x 6" decking in place. Finish off by nailing 2" x 6" face plates all around. Complete bench as shown above.

COMFORT HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING INVITES YOU TO BOOTH 82 TO SEE THE MOST EFFICIENT GAS FURNACE IN THE WORLD

... 91-96% EFFICIENT ...

"LENNOX PULSE FURNACE"

PROCESS OF COMBUSTION

The process of pulse combustion begins as gas and air are introduced into the sealed combustion chamber with the spark plug igniter. Spark from the plug ignites the gas mixture, which in turn causes a positive pressure buildup that closes the gas and air inlets. This pressure relieves itself by forcing the products of combustion out of the combustion chamber through the tailpipe into the heat exchanger exhaust decoupler and on into the heat exchanger coil. As the combustion chamber empties, its pressure becomes negative, drawing in air and gas for ignition of the next pulse of combustion. At the same instant, part of the pressure pulse is reflected back from the tailpipe at the top of the combustion chamber. This back pressure ignites the new gas-air mixture in the chamber, continuing the cycle. Once combustion is started, it feeds upon itself allowing the purge blower and spark plug igniter to be turned off. Each pulse of gas-air mixture is ignited at a rate of 50 to 70 times per second producing from one-fourth to one-half of a Btu per pulse of combustion. Almost complete combustion occurs with each pulse. The force of this controlled pulse creates great turbulence which forces the products of combustion through the entire heat exchanger assembly resulting in maximum heat transfer.

Air Conditioner Maintenance, Adequate Insulation Critical To Saving On Summer Energy Bills

Air conditioner maintenance is one sure way to help control rising electricity costs during the hot summer months. Here are three tips: 1—Both the internal and external coils of window air conditioners need to be cleaned regularly to ensure maximum operating efficiency. 2—Shading of the unit will allow it to operate more efficiently. The less heat hitting the air conditioner outside the house, the easier it is for the machine to dissipate heat from inside the house. 3—Filters in window units should be cleaned or replaced once a month during the cooling season. Dirty filters make the unit work longer and harder costing you more money.

With rising oil and gas prices, much attention recently has been focused on the value of regularly servicing the home heating unit.

Little, if any attention, however, has been paid to the air conditioner. And that's unfortunate, according to one expert, because many people pay more to cool their homes than to heat them.

"How serious this omission is has never been better illustrated than last year when, after a relatively mild winter, many areas of the country were plagued by a devastating heat wave," says Charles Hartmann of Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corporation, a leading manufacturer of glass fiber insulation. "Homeowners in Texas, for example, paid 50 to 90 percent more than they had the previous year, and air conditioners seemed to run non-stop for the whole summer."

Tuning up an air conditioner in an easy-do-it-yourself job that pays valuable dividends. Here are a few tips recommended by Al Ubell, author of the new book, "Al Ubell's Energy Saving Guide For Homeowners," and a reporter for ABC-TV's Good Morning America.

Ubell's Tips

"The first thing to remember about air conditioners is that even the most efficient are relatively expensive to operate," Mr. Ubell says. "So the less we use them and the more efficient we make them, the more we save."

"All air conditioners should be serviced once a year," he urges. "And that means motors should be lubricated, coils cleaned and filters changed."

A/C Anatomy

To understand, Mr. Ubell offers the following explanation of an air conditioner.

"Air conditioners operate as heat and humidity extractors. They draw warm, moist air out of the room or house, remove the heat and moisture and dissipate them outside the structure. Dirt will hinder the flow of hot air and make the unit work longer, thus increasing the energy bill."

Coils

Air conditioner coils are heat exchangers. Interior coils absorb heat, Mr. Ubell explains, and exterior coils expel it.

"Dirt build-up on the coils hinders both functions," he explains. "You can clean the internal coils with a damp rag or a soft brush and then vacuum. You can hose down the external coils while watering your lawn or washing your car."

Filters

Before anything is done with filters, Mr. Ubell cautions, "it is very important that the unit be turned off and unplugged. Running fan blades are very dangerous. The filters in window units should be cleaned or replaced once a month during the cooling season. Foam filters should be washed in inexpensive shampoo or in liquid detergent. The washed filter may be replaced while it's still damp."

During the summer, Mr. Ubell urges homeowners to change the filters in central air conditioners every month. Most units have a pair of filters which sell for approximately $1 each.

Other Air-Conditioning Tips

Following are several additional money-saving tips from Mr. Ubell:

Try to place the individual window unit on the north side of the home or in the shade. If that's impossible, place an awning over the unit. Less heat outside the house makes it easier for the unit to dissipate heat from the inside.

Keep your home at 78 F. Not only will you help the country save energy, you'll also save on your electric bill. For every degree you raise the temperature in an air conditioned room, you'll save 2 to 3 percent of your cooling costs.

On very hot days, the air conditioner will perform most efficiently with the fan set on high. However, in very humid weather the opposite is true. A low fan speed allows more moisture to be removed.

Insulation Comes First

But as important as a properly tuned air conditioner is, Mr. Ubell suggests the first step in making a home energy-efficient is to have proper levels of insulation.

"Many consumers think of insulation as a cold-weather product only," he says. "Not true. Insulation retards heat flow, and in the summer that means it helps keep heat out of the house. The less heat that enters, the less the air conditioner has to work."

Owens-Corning's Mr. Hartmann says a home's attic, sidewalls and floors are the most important areas to check for proper insulation levels.

"The attic usually represents a large part of the home's surface area," he points out. Proper insulation here can mean energy savings of 18 to 25 percent, according to the U.S. Department of Energy.

"Uninsulated exterior walls also are energy-wasters," Mr. Hartmann adds. "To insulate them in an existing home, a professional contractor should be hired. The value of such a move depends on how much sidewall insulation already exists."

If there is no insulation, the Department of Energy estimates that a proper installation could save 14 to 20 percent on the fuel bill.

"Basements and crawl spaces are frequently forgotten sources of energy waste," comments the Owens-Corning energy expert. According to the government, insulating these areas can save 4 to 8 percent on the fuel bill.

"The objective," Mr. Hartmann explains, "is for the homeowner to wrap the home in 'energy-efficiency'. That means an envelope of insulation, storm windows and doors, weatherstripping and caulking, along with energy-efficient appliances. The initial investment may seem high, but the quick pay-back and subsequent years of energy savings make it well worth it."

A Simple Do-It-Yourself Room Divider To Ease Space Crunch

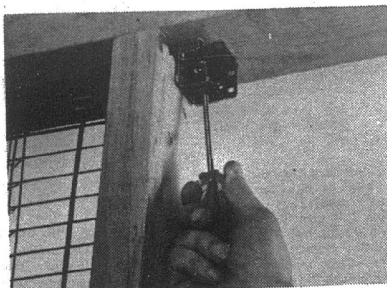

Completed partition can be from floor to ceiling or as shown here from partial wall to ceiling

2x4 header and 1x6 sill are cut to the desired length. (Note: Sill should overhang sheet rock wall on end and on sides.)

Toe nail in place. (Note: With a level, make sure that 2x4 is plumb.) Repeat as needed.

Bracket for blind is installed under top frame to fit within uprights.

Today's homes and apartments have smaller living spaces with multi-purpose rooms. Here's a simple do-it-yourself room divider to help ease the space crunch and create a sense of more compartmentalized living space. Made with Flexalum Decor Blinds by Hunter Douglas, the room divider provides all the separation needed without major alterations or construction and without interfering with normal air conditioning and heating air flows.

The wood needed for the header and uprights are 2x4's, the end posts are 4x4's and the sill is 1x6. Follow these eight easy steps: Step 1. Construct divider wall. (Divider wall is wall on which blinds will fit.) Approximately 28 inches high or chair height. That wall should be sheet rock.

Step 2. Cut 2x4 header and 1x6 sill to desired length. (Note: sill should overhang sheet rock wall on end and on sides.)

Step 3. Nail header to ceiling. Nail sill to top of sheet rock wall.

Step 4. Measure vertical height between header and sill.

Step 5. Cut 4x4 to the desired length and toe nail 4x4 at end of header.

Step 6. Measure width of blind and allow 1/4 inch extra. At that point measure vertical height again and cut a 2x4 to measured length.

Step 7. Toe nail in place. (Note: with a level, make sure that 2x4 is plumb.) Repeat as needed.

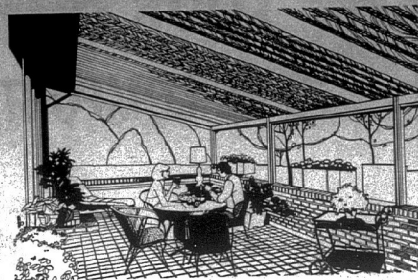

Step 8. Install blinds. NOTE. Size of Flexalum blinds should be determined by dividing the wall into equal parts, allowing for 2x4 spacers. This is the horizontal measurement. Length of Flexalum blinds is distance between sill and header.

Considering Reroofing Yourself? Be Sure To Heed Safety Rules

One of the ways to save money on the cost of home repairs is to do them yourself. And, as the do it yourselfer becomes more skilled, he takes on more complicated projects. If you are one of them, the time may come when you consider reroofing as a do-it-yourself job.

If reroofing is in order and you're considering whether to hire a contractor or do the roof installation on your own, remember that reroofing can be a difficult and hazardous job. Before going ahead, the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association suggests that you ask yourself these questions:

- Can I do the job as well as a professional?
- Am I willing to devote the time and effort to getting the job done correctly?
- Am I comfortable working at heights?

Unless the answer to these questions is an unqualified yes, you're better off leaving reroofing in the hands of a professional roofing contractor.

Remember also, adds ARMA, that steep-slope and high roofs or those with many angles, dormers or gables are best left to the professional.

To determine the pitch of your roof, measure how many inches it rises for each foot it runs. Roofs with slopes of four to five inches per horizontal foot are the safest and easiest for the do it yourselfer. When the slope is less than four inches per foot, special application procedures are recommended.

If you chose to reroof yourself, ARMA says to be sure to follow these safety procedures:

- Keep people away from the work area.
- Place shingles and tools where they won't slide off the roof.
- Wear rubber-soled construction-type shoes for secure footing.
- Apply shingles on clear days when it is warm, but not hot.
- Do not reroof in wet weather or when the temperature is below 40 degrees F.
- Reroof only when the roof deck and existing shingles are dry. Moisture makes roofs slippery and dangerous.
- Lift only light loads.
- Secure ladders top and bottom and keep the roof surface clear of debris.
- Never allow ladders to come in contact with power lines.

The basic reroofing tools include a hammer, roofing nails, tape measure, utility knife, chalk line for proper shingle alignment, and a pointed trowel for applying roofing cement. A carpenter's apron keeps the tools handy. Ladders, scaffolding and safety harnesses can be rented.

For additional information on roofing and what it can do for your home, send 50 cents for "A Homeowner's Guide to Quality Roofing" to ARMA, P.O. Box 3248, Grand Central Station, New York, New York 10163-3248.

Shoppers for Home Appliances Can Now Determine Energy Efficiency

How energy efficient is that automobile in the window? Does it get 20 miles to the gallon? 30? 40? To most potential buyers, the answer is as important as the car's pricing.

But what about the refrigerator-freezer you're considering? Or dishwasher? Or air conditioner? A labeling requirement now gives consumers an opportunity to also gauge the energy efficiency of most major home appliances manufactured since 1980.

All refrigerators, refrigerator-freezers, dishwashers, room air conditioners, clothes washers, water heaters and furnaces are required to wear labels that will enable the shopper to compare its energy efficiency with other models. In addition kitchen ranges and ovens (including microwave ovens), clothes dryers, television sets, home heating equipment other than central furnaces, and humidifiers and dehumidifiers are subject to standardized efficiency testing procedures, but are not required to carry labels.

"Saving energy in the home should be an important consideration for someone planning to buy a home appliance," said Ann Maynard, spokesperson for Edison Electric Institute's National Energy Watch, an energy efficiency program. "There is no reason why consumers should be any less concerned about the energy efficiency of, say, a refrigerator or dishwasher, than they would a car."

There are four types of Energyguide labels. For appliances that do not consume hot water, such as refrigerators, freezers, and water heaters, the label presents an estimated annual operating cost in dollars. For those appliances that do consume hot water, specifically dishwashers and clothes washers, the labels show two dollar amounts: cost for the appliance when its hot water is supplied from an electric water heater and cost for the hot water is supplied from a gas water heater. The third type of labels is for room air conditioners, where the numbers relate to its Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER).

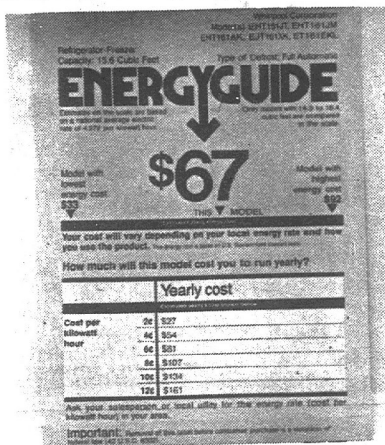

The fourth type is for furnaces, which is generic in nature and points out the availability of an energy fact sheet for the particular unit.

REFRIGERATOR-FREEZERS

At the center of the label in bold type is the estimated operating cost of the appliances for one year, based on a national average electric rate of 4.97 cents per kilowatt hour. This number is flanked by the cost of models of the same type and size range at the Comparison shop for appliances by checking the Energyguide label. Major appliances manufactured after May 1980 are required by law to carry Energyguide labels.

Checking the Energyguide label is a good way to comparison shop for appliances. The label indicates the estimated yearly operating cost, as well as how energy efficient the particular model is when compared to other models. Major appliances manufactured after May 1980 are required by law to carry Energyguide labels.

highest and lowest ends of the energy efficiency spectrum. The estimated annual costs are also indicated with variations in the kilowatt hour cost on a chart below.

DISHWASHERS

Federal regulations require that labels for dishwashers carry cost estimates for both electric water heating and gas water heating. Included in the equation are frequency — eight loads of dishes per week — and cost — 4.97 cents per kilowatt hour for electric and 36.7 cents per therm for gas. Charts are offered below for estimated operating costs at different energy costs and load frequencies. Again a range of estimated costs from the most efficient to the least efficient machine is shown on a bar scale.

CLOTHES WASHERS

To evaluate the operating cost there, it is important to know the washer's "capacity range." In order to compare the performance of similar machines, the consumer must be certain they are in the same capacity range. Automatic clothes washers have two capacity classifications: compact for less than 1.6 cubic feet tub capacity; standard for 1.6 cubic feet or more of tub capacity.

WATER HEATERS

The capacity of a water heater is given in terms of "first hour ratings," which is the amount of hot water that can be produced during the first hour of operation. Estimates are based on a national average oil rate of 62 cents per gallon, with yearly estimates for per gallon costs of 52 cents to 72 cents charted underneath.

ROOM AIR CONDITIONERS

The large number on this label is an Energy Efficiency Rating (EER) ratio, not a dollar amount. The higher the number, the more efficient the air conditioner. The EER is the ratio of the cooling capacity of the unit (expressed in Btu/hour) to the amount of electric power drawn by the unit (expressed in watts). The range of EERs for other room air conditioners of approximately the same cooling capacity are included on the label, as is an operating cost chart which calculates the cost of using the appliance based on local electricity rates and hours of use.

FURNACES

A generic label, required on all furnaces, contains information on how to be energy efficient at home. It di-

Check Home Electricity Consumption By Learning To Read Your Meter

According to this meter, the reading for the beginning of the period is 0-2-5-4-3. Say the numbers during the next measurement read 0-3-8-4-8. The difference between the two readings — arrived at by subtracting 02543 from 03848 — is the amount of electricity used between the times of the first and second readings. In this case, 1305 kilowatt-hours. On meters with four dials, note that the difference between the two numbers must be multiplied by 10 to obtain the actual number of kilowatt-hours used.

It might be a good idea to read your meter on a weekly, or even a daily basis. This way you can determine the effects on your electric bill of different weather conditions, hot water usage, or different air conditioning or heating settings.

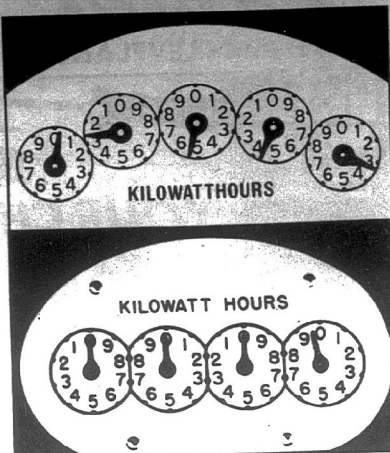

Gas meters, which have three or four dials, are read the same way. Smaller dials below the row and usually marked with the words "one foot" are just for testing purposes and can be ignored. Note that gas is measured in 100 cubic feet.

How much does it cost to run different appliances during the summer and winter? Con Edison of New York took a number of common household appliances and by using a rate of 11.7 cents per kilowatt-hour for summer and 10.3 cents per kilowatt-hour for winter was able to approximate the following results: One of the easiest and quickest ways to determine your electricity costs — and a way to doublecheck your monthly bills — is to become chummy with your electric meter.

Electric meters measure kilowatt-hours much the same way a car's odometer keeps track of the amount of miles traveled. One kilowatt hour is equal to the electricity needed to burn 10 100-watt light bulbs for one hour.

"Electric meters are very easy to read and it's really to the homeowner's benefit to learn how," said Anne Maynard, spokesperson for Edison Electric Institute's National Energy Watch. "It can help you budget your energy use simply by showing you in black and white the amount of electricity used regularly."

Once you've located the meter, which is usually in some out-of-the-way location, notice that it consists of four — or in most recent homes five — small dials. Note that the order of numbers is reversed on every other dial. Each time a dial hand makes 10 revolutions, the dial hand on its left will make a single revolution.

Read the dials left to right. Beginning with the dial on the left, notice that the hand has passed 0 and is on its way toward 1. Record it as 0 since you always read the smaller number.

On the second dial the hand is not quite on the 3, so it is read as 2. Again, it's the smaller number. Notice that the second dial (like the fourth) moves clockwise while the first and third dials run counterclockwise.

The third dial has not yet reached 6, so read it as 5. The fourth dial is between 4 and 5, so chalk it down as 4. The final dial is recorded as 3.

Why do you read the small number even though the hand is so perilously close to the larger number? The hand on a dial moves fully from one number to the next only when the hand on the dial to the right of it has made a complete cycle from 0 to 0. You'll be able to note this by jotting down the numbers on a regular basis.

Energy-Efficient Doors Help Save Dollars

Give your door the dollar bill test. Lay a dollar bill across the threshold and shut your door. If you can slip the dollar out, your expensive air conditioning or heating is also slipping out the door.

The Castlegate® Thermal Entry Replacement Door can save you money in two ways. First of all, the door uses two types of weather stripping: a compression seal on the hinge side and a magnetic seal on the lock side and top of door. A triple contact sweep at the bottom of the door also adds to the thermal protection. These features practically eliminate energy-wasting air infiltration from around and under the door, the most common problem areas.

In addition, the core of the Castlegate Replacement Door has an "R" value of 15, one of the highest in the industry. "R" value is a measure of resistance to heat flow — the higher the "R" value, the more effective the insulating qualities of the door. The core of the Castlegate Replacement Door insulates four times more effectively than a wooden and storm door combined.

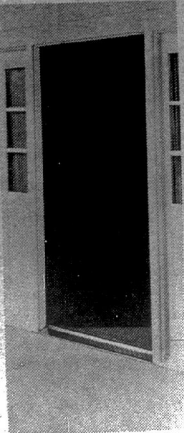

Not only do Castlegate Replacement Doors help save your energy dollars, they also can improve the value of your home. You can give your home a fresh new look by choosing among 45 attractive door patterns, seven classic sidelight styles and 10 varieties of glazing. Since Castlegate Replacement Doors are made of rugged, galvanized steel, they will provide years of trouble-free service and good looks — as well as greater security.

Installing a Castlegate Replacement Door is fast and simple, because the door comes pre-hung in its own steel frame. There is no need to spend hours fitting and hanging the door. All you do is:

1. Remove old door, hinges, lock strike and interior casing trim.
2. Insert the Castlegate Replacement Door and fasten it to existing frame using the provided hardware.
3. Install the provided weatherstripping on the side of the frame and jambs, then reapply the interior casing trim pieces and paint the door and frame.

Installing the Castlegate Thermal Entry Replacement Door also could make you eligible for an energy conservation tax credit under current IRS rulings. Your local IRS Service Center has details available upon request.

Instant transformation of a plain front door into a glamorous, energy-efficient entryway is possible with the Castlegate® Thermal Replacement Door from Castlegate Industries, Inc. Its R Value of 15 is one of the highest in the industry.

Castlegate Thermal Entry Replacement Doors are manufactured by Castlegate Industries, Inc. a subsidiary of United States Gypsum Company. For more information, write United States Gypsum Company, Dept. 161-1 HIT, 101 South Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60606.

Rediscover Summer With Garden Retreat

Redwood gazebo or garden room will bring you outdoors for the best season of the year. Perfect for summer dining or entertainment, a redwood retreat is probably easier and more affordable than you'd imagine. Redwood and outdoor living go hand-in-hand because redwood has the beauty and performance that make projects look better and last longer. Rustic, knot textured garden grades of redwood are economical and resist splitting, checking and warping. The heartwood of redwood has a resistance to decay and insects that goes all through the wood. For more information on redwood and garden projects, send 50¢ to: California Redwood Association, Dept. HIT-82, One Lombard Street, San Francisco, CA 94111.

Make summer special. Don't let it slip by unnoticed. Outdoor meals, evening entertainment and even your lazy days are more pleasant when you enjoy them in the comfortable beauty of your own back yard. A redwood gazebo or garden room will get you and your guests out of the house to rediscover summer, the way it should be. Even a simple redwood shade trellis will help make the best season of the year even better. If you think all this is beyond your means or skill, think again! Creating a redwood retreat for your back yard is more affordable and easier than you'd imagine. In addition, it will save air cooling costs and add value to your house.

In California, where outdoor living is a time honored tradition, homeowners and professional builders agree redwood provides the beauty and performance that makes garden projects look better and last longer. Redwood and outdoor living go hand in hand because redwood offers the best value for decks, fences and other garden structures. You can save money by using the economical redwood garden grades which have a rustic, knotty appearance.

Posts, beams and rafters for garden rooms and gazebos are all highly visible, so it is important to choose a wood that is both attractive and able to stand up to years of weathering. Redwood has a natural stability not found in other woods. It resists splitting, checking, cupping and warping.

Whether you plan to build a garden retreat yourself or hire a pro to help you, you can get redwood quality and the best value dollar for dollar by choosing the most economical redwood grade that will do the job right. Here's a brief description of the redwood grades readily available.

Construction Heart is an excellent choice for posts and deck understructures or other applications where you need strength on or close to the ground. It is a strong all-heartwood grade with decay and insect resistance.

Construction Common is useful for beams, rafters, decking and benches. It can be used almost anywhere decay and insects aren't a problem.

Merchantable Heart is well suited to non-load bearing applications like planters, fences and especially uses on or close to the ground. It is a highly useful, economy grade with the durability of redwood heartwood.

Merchantable can be used above ground for trellis work and privacy screens. It contains lighter colored sapwood and knots slightly larger than the construction grades.

For literature on redwood and building a garden retreat, send 50¢ for postage and handling to: California Redwood Association, Dept. HIT-82, One Lombard Street, San Francisco, CA 94111.

Redwood garden grades are economical and there's a grade for every part of your garden projects. Construction Heart redwood is an excellent choice for posts and deck understructures because it is resistant to decay and insects. Construction Common is useful for beams, rafters and decking. Merchantable Heart (not illustrated) is well suited for non-load bearing applications like planters and fences especially on or close to the ground because it is decay and insect resistant. ## Laundry: Forgotten Area

By William J. Ketcham, CKD, Kitchen/Laundry Design Operation, General Electric Company, Louisville, KY.

Evolution of the housing industry through the years has in the main reflected the desires and needs of the potential customer. As family living styles have changed, architects and builders have responded to such changes in the overall design of housing. Family rooms, work-efficient kitchens, energy efficiency, and improved storage areas represent a few of the changes that have evolved in response to changing life-styles.

Through all the changes, one area of the home that has been given little attention is the area where clothes are washed and dried.

Builders can please prospective buyers first by including laundry equipment in the home, then establishing the most acceptable area for it. It could be a laundry center adjacent to the kitchen, or a "Housekeeping Room" that's a combination sewing/hobby/laundry center that can be located near the core of the home or anywhere else there's room for it.

This idea should come as no surprise: with the exception of preparing meals, doing the family laundry often takes more of a homemaker's time than any other task around the house. According to the National Bureau of Standards, the average homemaker does 416 loads of laundry a year, eight loads a week, so the laundry area shouldn't be ignored.

While homemakers may be excited about a new or remodeled home, they frequently don't like the laundry area, causing the common complaint, "I hate to do the laundry!" What is often really meant is "I hate my laundry room," especially if it is in a gloomy, poorly lighted basement.

As the need for a better laundry area becomes more important in new home designs and in re-cycled housing, there's still a tendency to include only an area for a washer, dryer and sometimes a sink. These areas provided for are usually near the furnace, a useful but often unattractive device, and the water heater with its maze of pipes and wires that really ought to be behind closed doors.

The strongest advice offered to people involved in the design of laundry facilities is to plan with the idea in mind that laundries should be all-purpose areas where storage is a basic requirement. With some solid thought and diligent designing, the laundry area can be turned into a functional, attractive room.

Well-designed, attractive laundry products should be located in a setting that complements their looks and function, including cabinets in the right places, a sink for pre-wash, a place to hang permanent-press items, a linen closet with adjustable shelves, sufficient lighting in all work areas, good ventilation — and maybe even a plant-potting space.

Such a multi-purpose housekeeping room can also be a rainy-day playroom, a homework room, the family office, or a planning center. In designing such a facility, these activities deserve attention, along with the hobbies/interests of the homemaker and the family.

All of these areas are present in some form in most homes, so why not include them in an organized, well-thought-out single center?

Other than the large, multi-purpose type laundry area, smaller, yet complete, laundry centers can be included in many other convenient locations in the home. These include a hallway serving the bedroom area, near a water source, or where venting can be accomplished fairly easily. Often the laundry is combined with a freezer center or located in a utility room near the kitchen and back door, or placed in the bathroom behind decorative louvered doors.

If space is limited, an ideal solution can be installation of a compact laundry pair. General Electric is introducing a laundry pair that can be stacked in about four square feet of floor space, permitting installation in a kitchen, bathroom or a well-ventilated alcove. The washer is on casters for flexibility, and it can be plumbed-in for permanent installation.

In planning new home construction, you can add a fine sales feature that will make a positive impression on potential buyers if you include a well-designed laundry center in your plans. Don't let it be the forgotten area.
